INTRODUCTION

Lightning and thunder, illusions and implements, songs and summonings, curses and chaos—all of these are the tools of arcane characters. They have mastered the art of manipulating reality through the use of supernatural forces to wreak havoc on their enemies or help their friends win the day. The most accomplished of arcane characters can produce awesome results on the battlefield without ever needing to pick up a weapon.

Arcane Power[™] is a manual of fantastic effects and mysterious abilities. In its pages are new ways to build an arcane character, along with new options to fill out your role as a bard, a sorcerer, a swordmage, a warlock, or a wizard. Members of nonarcane classes might find an appropriate multiclass feat or some useful rituals in these pages, but everything else is for arcane characters.

USING THIS BOOK

As you can see by the table of contents, Arcane Power is organized by class. Whether you have a character of a particular class or you want to make a character of that class, all you have to do is consult the proper chapter for new class features, builds, powers, and paragon paths. The final chapter of the book contains more than one hundred new feats; new rules for familiars; nine new epic destinies for arcane characters; a selection of magic tomes; several new rituals; and a brief discussion of arcane backgrounds.

Use the Arcane Power supplement to start playing a new character with a new build, to pick powers that better define your existing character, or to evolve your character with specific feats. The paragon paths introduced here might allow you to fully express the style you always intended your character to have.

REIMAGINING YOUR CHARACTER

It happens. You've played your arcane character a while, and suddenly Arcane Power shows up, offering many new possibilities—options you might have picked if you had known about them earlier.

Don't despair; you have a few choices. Retraining rules (see page 28 of the Player's Handbook[®]) make tapping into Arcane Power easy. If retraining won't do the trick quickly enough, talk to your DM and your fellow players about reworking your character along the lines Arcane Power provides. Chances are you can overhaul your PC to match your desires without doing any harm to the campaign. Your DM might even have a way to make the change a part of the story. If doing that ultimately proves too difficult, a dramatic exit for the older character could make way for a new one.

BARD

“Melodies haunt me: songs of joy and sorrow, victory and defeat. They surface from the past, and echo faintly from futures yet to be.”

AS A bard, you are an arcane marvel capable of calling magic from art itself. You are viscerally moved by the poetry, songs, and narratives of ancient days and are inspired to reproduce the wonders they relate, or to create new legends of your own.

You are a consummate performer, and your magic is just one aspect of a grand display. A master of charm and illusion, you can spin a story so captivating or a musical recital so engrossing that hours might pass while the listener stands transfixed. In combat, you put these same skills to use, but instead of delighting an audience, you perform to destroy a foe. You revel in drama and creativity even in the midst of a vicious fight.

You are nothing if not versatile, capable of fighting with both sword or bow and spell. Few enemies fully appreciate your effectiveness—until it is too late. Your broad range of talent encompasses artistic ability, arcane lore, and knowledge of things long past—with glimpses of what is to come. You’ll find support for all your abilities in this chapter. It includes the following material.

- ◆ New Class Feature: The Virtue of Prescience grants the wisdom of forethought to your bardic powers.
- ◆ New Build: Manipulate fortune and peer into the future as a prescient bard.
- ◆ New Bard Powers: New powers supplement the bard builds described in the Player’s Handbook® 2 core rulebook, as well as the new prescient bard. Bards who favor the bow over the blade will also find plenty of opportunities here.
- ◆ New Paragon Paths: Use your talents to follow one of six new paths. Strike from afar with a combination of archery and music, bring death to evildoers with whispered verses of doom, or call forth the song of life itself.

NEW CLASS FEATURE

The new Virtue of Prescience option for the Bardic Virtue class feature is available to any bard. You can choose this option instead of Virtue of Cunning or Virtue of Valor.

Virtue of Prescience: Once per encounter as an immediate interrupt, when an enemy hits one ally within 5 squares of you, you grant that ally a power bonus equal to your Wisdom modifier to the defense targeted by the triggering enemy until the end of that enemy's turn.

NEW BUILD

Rhythm moderates the flow of your swordplay and the tenor of your spells. For you, all the world's a stage. The Player's Handbook 2 core rulebook described the cunning bard and the valorous bard. This chapter presents a third build, the prescient bard.

PRESCIENT BARD

You have the foresight to navigate the twisting roads of luck and fate, emulating those heroes who were able to sense the truths beyond mere reality. By manipulating luck and glimpsing the future, you help your allies exploit every advantage, attacking your enemies' weakest defenses and avoiding mishaps in combat. You wield a ranged weapon, with which you can cast spells at enemies from a distance while inspiring allies. As with other bards, you use Charisma for your attack powers, so it should be your highest ability score. Choose Wisdom as your second-highest score, since it enhances the effects of powers that use the Virtue of Prescience. A decent Intelligence score is useful for improving your Armor Class and Reflex defense, as well as boosting the knowledge skills that you often use.

Suggested Class Feature: Virtue of Prescience

Suggested Feat: Extended Prescience*

Suggested Skills: Arcana, Diplomacy, History, Insight, Perception

Suggested At-Will Powers: guiding strike†, *jinx shot

Suggested Encounter Power: *prophesied strike

Suggested Daily Power: *arrow of warning

*New option presented in this book

†Presented in Player's Handbook 2

DRAGONBORN BARDS

With their naturally high Charisma scores, dragonborn make admirable bards. Proud and honorable, many choose the Virtue of Valor in order to emulate the battle exploits of racial warrior-heroes. Dragonborn bards keep alive the sagas of ancient Arkhosia.

NEW BARD POWERS

Bards lead by emulating great heroes of legend, swaying the battle with exhortations to glory. The prescient bard leads from the rear, literally calling the shots. This section expands the abilities of all bards, with some powers focused on the prescient bard build and other, general spells suited to the repertoire of any bard.

NEW PARAGON PATHS

CUNNING PREVARICATOR

"There is a saying among the fey creatures who trip between worlds: Only through dishonesty is honor earned."

Prerequisite: Bard

Fey tricksters, gnomes, and storytellers of every race know many legends unfamiliar to other creatures—tales from secluded forests, burrows deep underground, the lairs of powerful beasts, and the locked vaults of powerful monarchs. And what they don't know, they make up.

As a cunning prevaricator, you traffic in the honored (at least among some) traditions of exaggeration, misdirection, and out-and-out lying. You study and follow the teachings of great fabulists of the past—all of them fictional, almost certainly—and apply that knowledge to your bardic skills. You transfer your natural talent for illusion and deception to your friends, granting them some small measure of glory—or so you try to convince them.

CUNNING PREVARICATOR PATH FEATURES

Virtue of Deceit (11th level): When you use your Bardic Virtue class feature, one ally you choose within 5 squares of you gains combat advantage against the target of his or her next attack.

Shrouding Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you and one ally you choose within 5 squares of you become invisible until the end of your next turn.

Trickster's Mercy (16th level): When you use majestic word to heal a bloodied ally, that ally becomes invisible until the start of his or her next turn.

If the triggering attack misses, the target gains the bonus to those defenses until the end of your next turn. If the triggering attack hits, the target regains hit points as if he or she had spent a healing surge.

EUPHONIC BOW

"Each arrow's release plucks the string of my lethal instrument. My bow sings a dirge for your passing."

Prerequisite: Bard

You intertwine music, archery, and magic into a single glorious craft that is as artistic as it is martial. Your foes waver between fear and admiration even as you draw a bead on them. Every shot from your bowstring resonates with a melodious tone, and the percussion of your arrows finding their marks drives the battle forward like a drumbeat. Even your foes' cries of pain blend with the clash of weapons against shields and armor. Your arcane might weaves it all into a fantastic symphony of battle.

Creating this wondrous performance depends partially on your ability to see an instant into the future. Timing is everything.

EUPHONIC BOW PATH FEATURES

Bow Implement (11th level): You can use a bow as an implement for your bard attack powers. Add the bow's enhancement bonus to attack rolls and damage rolls, as well as to any extra damage granted by a property (if applicable) when using the bow as an implement. You do not add your weapon proficiency bonus to the attack roll when you use your bow as an implement.

When you use a bow as an implement for a ranged bard attack power, the power's range is increased to the bow's normal range (if the power's range is shorter). You can also use the power at the bow's long range, with the normal -2 penalty to the attack roll.

GRAVE CALLER

"Some deserve nothing but death, and those most deserving are marked by their crimes. Like a requiem's crescendo, I pursue the marked ever more closely to give them their due."

Prerequisite: Bard

Rumors of an ancient organization of assassin-bards sometimes surface in taverns. Such tales are quickly quelled as foolish romance, of course. If the existence of the secret group to which you belong became common knowledge, your work would be that much harder to accomplish.

Your shadowy organization, known as the Grave Callers, has tasked its members to seek out and slay those who prey on the innocent. Its leaders identify those individuals to you through clever courier drops or magical sendings, marking them indelibly as your targets. You are making the world a better place with each undesirable element that you remove, and that knowledge drives you to continue your work. Through your ancient and deadly song, you improve the chances of all other creatures, one death at a time.

GRAVE CALLER PATH FEATURES

Dirge of Inescapable Doom (11th level): Once per encounter as a minor action, you can place a deathmark on a single enemy within 10 squares of you. The deathmark lasts until the end of the encounter. If you miss with an encounter attack power against a creature that has your deathmark, the attack still deals 1d6 + your Charisma modifier damage.

Gravecall Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you gain a +4 bonus to damage rolls until the end of your next turn.

Path to the Grave (16th level): Whenever you make an attack roll with an encounter or a daily attack power against a creature that has your deathmark, roll a d20 twice and use either result.

HALF-ELF EMISSARY

"There is strength in numbers, and I have many friends who trust me and are willing to fight for me."

Prerequisite: Half-elf, bard

You hate to be tied to any one location for too long; you'd rather be on the road, meeting new creatures and seeing new lands and nations. As a result, you feel at home nearly anywhere. This same ability also puts you in the good graces of people you meet along the way.

Your inborn empathy and acquired diplomatic skill allow you to fit into nearly any society—if not as someone who has always lived there, then at least as a trusted friend. By understanding many kinds of people and creatures, you learn how to protect them—or fight them, if need be.

When things turn rough, you can use your knowledge of other creatures to your advantage in a fight. The more foes that try to stop you, the better you can tangle their swords and spells, confounding their attempts to hurt you.

HALF-ELF EMISSARY PATH FEATURES

Skilled Speech (11th level): Your bonus to Diplomacy checks from your Group Diplomacy racial trait equals your Charisma modifier. In addition, allies within 10 squares of you apply this bonus to all checks with Charisma-based skills in which you are trained.

Valorous Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, allies you can see gain a +2 power bonus to all defenses until the end of your next turn. In addition, you regain the use of the encounter power you gained from your Dilettante racial feature if you have used it during this encounter.

Heal the Besieged (16th level): Whenever you use a bard healing power on an ally, increase the number of hit points regained by 1d6 for each enemy that is adjacent to that ally.

KARMIC SHAPER

"Reality can be manipulated. Good works weave shining marks into it, while evils done stain its threads. Both propagate forward and backward in time, and their consequences will find you late or soon."

Prerequisites: Bard, Virtue of Prescience class feature

Moral consequence is something all creatures face, whether they recognize its existence or not. The effects of each creature's deeds influence the past, present, and future. You do not hold this view as a philosophical belief: It is demonstrably true.

Each action a being takes is like planting a seed. Depending on the deed's nature, harvesting its fruits might bring joy or pain. You seek to increase your own measure of joy in the world, while ensuring that your foes reap equivalent pain for their past misdeeds.

You are an interpreter of karma. With your prescient sight, you can collect your foes' karmic debt in a timely, sometimes dramatic fashion. On the other hand, your own actions touch only lightly on the karmic surface of cause and consequence. You shape the fates of others without unduly affecting your own final destiny.

KARMIC SHAPER PATH FEATURES

Fated Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you can reroll any single d20 roll you make this turn.

Karmic Virtue (11th level): If you use Virtue of Prescience to increase an ally's defense and the enemy's attack still hits, the ally targeted by the triggering enemy's attack can spend a healing surge as a free action.

Karmic Strike (16th level): When you use Virtue of Prescience, one ally within 10 squares of you can make a ranged or melee basic attack as a free action against the triggering enemy.

You twist the paths of fate, reversing your ally's misfortune.

Daily ♦ Arcane
Immediate Interrupt Close burst 10
Trigger: An ally in burst misses with an attack
Target: The triggering ally and one enemy in burst
Effect: Roll a d20 twice. The ally can replace his or her attack roll with one of your rolls, and you can force the enemy to replace its next attack roll with your other roll.

End of Luck Karmic Shaper Attack 20

All the good fortune your foe has enjoyed up to now is balanced by a tide of ill favor.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Implement, Psychic

LIFE SINGER

"When the scourge wind blows coldest from the heights, I will be ready. My voice will be added to the melody that will preserve the eladrin from an ancient foe."

Prerequisite: Bard

Far to the north in the Feywild echo of the world, a freezing wind howls out of the Scourge Mountains every twenty years. Colloquially called the scourge wind, this is no common gale; it is the manifestation of an ancient curse, created when an infant eladrin princess of elder blood was slain in her crib. That evil deed resonates yet, despite efforts by later sovereigns to make amends, building year after year until a sentient, malevolent storm is born. Infused with rage for innocence lost, the lethal blast is bent on freezing to death as many creatures as possible before it blows itself out.

In answer to this recurring threat, the eladrin of the foothills found a way to keep the scourge wind at bay—a song of life that diminishes the hatred and fury of the storm and ameliorates its lethal cold. As a life singer, you have studied this song and honed your voice to pacify the scourge wind. Your sacred quest is to travel the worlds, promoting peace and protecting life, so that you can infuse your song with the experience you gain. When the scourge wind next blows, you and the chorus of other life singers will be ready to lift your voices in the great song of life.

LIFE SINGER PATH FEATURES

Find Another Way (11th level): Allies within 5 squares of you gain a +2 bonus to skill checks and ability checks.

Peaceful Action (11th level): Whenever an ally within 5 squares of you spends an action point to take an extra action that is not an attack, that ally gains 1d8 + your Charisma modifier temporary hit points.

Serene Will (16th level): If you miss with an attack roll for an attack that targets Will, you can reroll the attack roll. If this attack does not deal damage, you gain a +2 power bonus to the reroll.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Healing, Implement
Standard Action Close burst 3

If an ally attacks an affected target, the target immediately awakens. The ally does not have combat advantage against the target for that attack and cannot make a coup de grace attack against it.

SORCERER

“Colors collide and explode before my eyes. Energy seethes in the Chaos, in the hearts of dragons, behind the dependable cycle of the seasons, and amid the unbridled fury of the storm’s heart. This energy imprints my very blood!”

BECAUSE SORCERERS call up spells whose source is chaos in some form, such characters have a reputation for being slightly crazed. Though some of them might in truth be a bit “off,” or even demented, the naïve do sorcerers as a group a great disservice by mistaking their exuberance for lunacy.

Sorcerers are arcane power users, and they call upon the same general class of spell that wizards and warlocks use. But where wizards learn their spells from tomes and warlocks are given them by a patron entity, sorcerers find the power to incant their spells in their own blood. Whether a particular sorcerer’s blood was imprinted during his or her own lifetime, or a sorcerer’s entire bloodline is so touched and thus is prone to producing sorcery, a sorcerer who takes up the craft seeks always to master the magic born inside, hoping one day to match, spell for spell, the greatest arcanists of the age.

This chapter includes the following material.

- ◆ New Class Features: Storm Magic and Cosmic Magic expand the possibilities for characters who want to plumb the depths of the sorcerous arts.
- ◆ New Builds: This chapter introduces the storm sorcerer and the cosmic sorcerer, which embody the storm’s fury and nature’s imperturbable cycles, respectively.
- ◆ New Sorcerer Powers: Dozens of new powers are described in this chapter, including powers that supplement Dragon Magic and Wild Magic, as well as powers that support Storm Magic and Cosmic Magic.
- ◆ New Paragon Paths: The new choices here include general sorcerer paragon paths, as well as paths suited to a specific sorcerer’s Spell Source.

NEW CLASS FEATURES

As a sorcerer, you gain power through an instinctive or inborn connection to an ancient arcane source. Instead of the Spell Source options of Dragon Magic and Wild Magic (described in Player's Handbook 2), you can select either Storm Magic or Cosmic Magic. The choice you make grants you specific features and also provides bonuses to certain sorcerer powers, as detailed in those powers.

STORM MAGIC

The raw and unbridled fury of storm powers your spells. While others might flee a storm, you embrace its power, internalize the force, and then unleash it. The impetuous, unpredictable power resident in the storm is your greatest ally. Like a tempest, you never give up and never give in until you are completely spent.

Storm Power: You gain a bonus to the damage rolls of arcane powers equal to your Dexterity modifier. The bonus equals your Dexterity modifier + 2 at 11th level and your Dexterity modifier + 4 at 21st level.

Storm Soul: You gain resist 5 thunder and resist 5 lightning. This resistance increases to 10 at 11th level and 15 at 21st level.

While this resistance is active, your arcane powers ignore all targets' resistance to that damage type up to the value of your resistance.

If you are hit by an attack, you can end this resistance as an immediate interrupt to gain a +4 power bonus to all defenses until the end of your next turn. If you do so, the resistance returns after you take a short rest or an extended rest.

Storm's Embrace: When you roll a natural 20 on an attack roll for an arcane power, wind surges around you and your enemy. You can push the target 1 square and then fly a number of squares equal to 1 + your Dexterity modifier after applying the attack's other effects.

SORCERERS IN THE WORLD

The singed and scarred youth holding forth on chaotic structures in the tavern, the robed dragonborn ascetic chanting a low song of blood and wings, the halfling whose hair bristles with static charge while standing on the hilltop as the storm blows in, the tiefling astronomer who reveres the sky and seasons—all of these individuals might well be sorcerers. A sorcerer is a character whose essentially enthusiastic grasp on her powers is certain to be noticed in small towns and teeming metropolises alike.

COSMIC MAGIC

The sun, the moon, and the stars speak to you in the voiceless language of cycles. The natural flow of the seasons tugs at your blood as the tide acts upon the oceans, pushing and pulling with gentle insistence regardless of the storm's fury, the dragon's flight, or the antics of otherworldly primordial. Just as the constellations move around the sky in a steady, imperturbable cadence, your spells are strong and unshakable, and tied to energies that can outlast all others.

Cosmic Persistence: While you are not wearing heavy armor, you can use your Strength modifier in place of your Dexterity or Intelligence modifier to determine your AC.

Cosmic Power: You gain a bonus to the damage rolls of arcane powers equal to your Strength modifier. The bonus equals your Strength modifier + 2 at 11th level and your Strength modifier + 4 at 21st level.

Soul of the Cosmic Cycle: At the end of a short rest or an extended rest, you choose a cosmic phase from those described below and gain its benefits.

The first time you become bloodied during an encounter, your phase immediately changes to the next higher-numbered phase (or back to the phase of the sun if you are in the phase of the stars). For example, if you begin an encounter in the phase of the moon, after becoming bloodied you would be in the phase of the stars.

In addition, each time you use a daily arcane attack power, you can choose to change your phase to the next higher-numbered phase immediately after resolving the effects of the power.

1. Phase of the Sun: At the start of your turn, each enemy adjacent to you takes fire and radiant damage equal to your Strength modifier.

You also gain resist 5 cold.

2. Phase of the Moon: You gain a bonus to AC equal to the number of conscious enemies adjacent to you.

You also gain resist 5 psychic.

3. Phase of the Stars: Whenever an enemy's attack misses you, you can teleport a number of squares equal to your Strength modifier as a free action.

You also gain resist 5 radiant.

The resistance granted by this class feature increases to 10 at 11th level and to 15 at 21st level. While you have resistance from this class feature, your arcane powers ignore all targets' resistance to that damage type up to the value of your resistance.

NEW BUILDS

This book introduces two sorcerer builds: the storm sorcerer and the cosmic sorcerer.

STORM SORCERER

You embody the fury and power of a thunderstorm. Charisma is your primary ability score, since you use it to attack and deal damage. Dexterity is your second-highest score, contributing to your AC and Reflex and adding special effects to your attacks. Strength is your tertiary ability score.

Suggested Class Feature: Storm Magic

Suggested Feat: Tempest Magic*

Suggested Skills: Arcana, Bluff, Intimidate, Nature

Suggested At-Will Powers: lightning strike*, storm walk†

Suggested Daily Power: howling tempest*

COSMIC SORCERER

Your blood moves in tune with the phases of the moon, the passing seasons, and the circling stars above. Charisma is your primary ability score, since you use it to attack and deal damage. Strength is your second-highest score, giving you better damage and adding special effects to your attacks. Dexterity is your tertiary stat choice.

Suggested Class Feature: Cosmic Magic

Suggested Feat: Student of the Cosmos*

Suggested Skills: Arcana, Endurance, Insight, Nature

GENASI SORCERERS

Genasi are usually described as energy embodied, chaos and order united—as a race of inherent flexibility, passion, and diversity. Such a description seems an ideal fit for sorcery, especially for the branches of storm magic and wild magic. Indeed, many genasi answer the call of sorcery that lives in their blood. Because genasi originally hailed from the Elemental Chaos, they are elemental creatures in some ways. In fact, each genasi's elemental manifestation (earth-soul, firesoul, stormsoul, watersoul, or windsoul) seems a perfect complement to nearly any style of sorcerer. Each elemental manifestation offers particular benefits and provides an associated encounter power. Indeed, a stormsoul genasi is already thematically a storm sorcerer: A genasi can promise the storm by invoking lightning living within, which calls out to its companion, the thunder. Sparks dance across the genasi's skin, and the air around her darkens and rumbles.

Suggested At-Will Powers: blazing starfall*, burning spray†

Suggested Encounter Power: ray of the moon*

Suggested Daily Power: cosmos call*

GODS AND SORCERERS

Melora, Corellon, and Ioun are popular deities among sorcerers because of their influence over matters of chaotic wilderness, arcane magic, and knowledge, respectively. Melora and Sehanine are also favorites of cosmic sorcerers because of their ties to the natural cycles of the world or its seasons. Avandra is popular, as she is with all classes, because of her association with adventure. Asmodeus's association with power has tempted a few sorcerers into his sway, even if they're not actually evil. All the other deities in the pantheon have a few sorcerer adherents. Even Kord has his followers among sorcerers, especially dragon sorcerers and wild sorcerers, because they revere his power over thunder and his prowess in combat.

Half elves enjoy naturally high Charisma scores that well suit them for the sorcerer class. Despite that fact, few half-elves take up the mantle of the wild spellcaster, possibly because a half-elf's naturally diplomatic nature finds itself at odds with the tempestuous nature that many sorcerers exhibit. However, a few half-elves glory in the riotous presence that most sorcerers seem to cultivate. With a half-elf's ability to learn any attack power from a class other than his or her own, half-elves who choose the sorcerer class might take an at-will power from the paladin, the warlock, or some other class whose powers primarily draw upon Charisma in order to broaden their abilities.

HUMAN SORCERERS

As with half-elves, some humans are capable of absorbing new customs and new modes of thinking with ease. Sorcery, with its wild and blood-linked powers, is an arcane skill that humans seem particularly adept at learning. Indeed, for many, picking up sorcery doesn't require formal instruction, but instead merely listening to urges encoded in their blood (for those lucky enough to have the potential for sorcery). Whereas human wizards, swordmages, and even warlocks are proud of their particular learning, human sorcerers feel a special pride of their own that their magic comes naturally. Some take this feeling further and are conceited about their inborn talent.

When you conjure each image, choose a keyword for it from among fire, force, lightning, and psychic. You can't choose the same keyword twice. While you occupy an image, you gain a +1 bonus to attack rolls when you use a power that has a keyword that matches that image.

Each image lasts until the end of the encounter, until it is destroyed, or until you dismiss it. Each image occupies 1 square, and creatures cannot move through an image's space. An image can be targeted by attacks and uses your defenses. Each image (including the one you occupy) has 1 hit point, and a missed attack never damages an image. DUEL ARCANE

The Duel Arcane was the event in the city. Held every three years, it afforded the city a wonderful influx of business as sorcerers, wizards, and not a few charlatans descended on the city. Inns were full, and business in the bazaar was brisk. Outfitters of all types expected booming sales. The city welcomed the arcanists with open arms (especially famous and rich arcanists). Shops and merchants scrambled to expand their inventory of magical implements, components, reagents, and other needful things while the Duel ran. Inflated prices for rare components was a possibility every attending mage expected.

For the young human sorcerer named Hennet, it was almost too much. But he had paid his entry fee. He had traveled to the city. Now all that remained was the Duel.

Hennet's first competitor was a salt-bearded fellow called Harper. Harper stood in the circle across from him, darting glances to and fro. Sweat beaded the man's brow, and he rubbed his hands incessantly. Hennet's own nervousness faded somewhat at seeing his competitor so shaken. He restrained himself from offering the man encouragement. This was a competition, after all.

"... BEGIN!" bawled the judge. A puff of sulfurous smoke from a magical duel being conducted in an adjacent sand-pit washed across Harper, who actually mewled in terror.

What's up with this guy? wondered the sorcerer. Perhaps Harper was newer to the craft even than Hennet. He shrugged, and whispered elements of a song that always rang in his blood. Infused by magic from his waving fingertips, the sound was transformed. A low growl, as of a lion catching scent of its prey, issued from his open mouth.

Hennet moved his hands even farther apart. As he did so, the growl's volume increased, becoming the ear-shattering roar of a great cat screaming in triumph.

The judge stepped back, nearby competitors stumbled in the midst of their spells, and Harper was pushed out of the dueling circle.

The round was Hennet's. Even better, he had used the first spell that he had ever mastered, one that had stolen into his mind on the eve of his thirteenth birthday. He had used it often since then. But, he had to admit, never before with such perfection.

It was going to be a good day.

HALFLING SORCERERS

Despite what some might think, halflings are drawn to the sorcerer class for several reasons. First, all sorcerers benefit from naturally high Charisma scores, which halflings possess in spades. Second, the volatile nature that might sour other races on the class only serves to draw some halflings to the class all the more fiercely. Furthermore, a halfling's Small size is no detriment to taking up sorcery because two-handed weapons are not associated with the class. And, as with anything, a little luck never hurts. Halflings who become sorcerers are most likely to favor wild magic or storm magic.

SWORDMAGE

“My arcane powers are ancient, passed down through the centuries so that when I am called to duty, my warding holds fast.”

SWORDMAGES ARE warriors who wield ancient magic to supplement their martial skills. A swordmage channels magic through his or her sword, enhancing attacks, bolstering defenses, and aiding allies. Each time a swordmage presses the attack, a foe must contend not only with the bite of steel, but also with arcs of searing fire, dazzling discharges of lightning, and cold as chilling as any blizzard.

As a swordmage, you share a bond with your sword. When you and your sword are separated, you can call the weapon to hand with a mere thought. Developing this powerful relationship with your blade is the first step to becoming a swordmage, and calling the weapon is the first lesson you mastered.

Swordmages are consummate tacticians, and they recognize the value of teamwork. As a result, you focus your arcane talents on preserving allies against foes' attacks. You have learned to create an arcane link between yourself and your enemy. This ancient magic is the swordmage's aegis, and it allows you to punish a foe that dares to attack your allies.

This chapter includes the following material.

- ◆ New Class Feature: Using aegis of ensnarement, you can compel a foe to move to you just when the creature thinks itself safe.
- ◆ New Build: Foil your foes with cunning footwork, entangling spells, and dazzling swordplay as an ensnaring swordmage.
- ◆ New Swordmage Powers: Capture your enemies with entrapping powers, glide effortlessly across the battlefield, or unleash bursts of elemental magic. Customize your arcane arsenal for control or damage.
- ◆ New Paragon Paths: This chapter introduces six new swordmage paragon paths. Inscribe sigils in the air that punish your foes, or capitalize on an enemy's greatest weaknesses. Stalk the ether between planes, or bend your Swordmage Warding into a powerful weapon.

NEW CLASS FEATURE

Instead of selecting the aegis of shielding or the aegis of assault as your Swordmage Aegis, you can select the aegis of ensnarement power.

Aegis of Ensnarement

Swordmage Feature

You create an arcane link between yourself and a foe, allowing you to ensnare that creature.

At-Will ♦ Arcane, Teleportation

Minor Action Close burst 2

Target: One creature in burst

Effect: You mark the target. The target remains marked until you use this power against another target. If you mark another creature using other powers, the target is still marked.

Until the mark ends, if the target makes any attack that does not include you as a target, it takes a -2 penalty to the attack roll.

If a target marked by this power is within 10 squares of you when it hits with an attack that does not include you as a target, you can use an immediate reaction after the target's entire attack is resolved to teleport the target to any space adjacent to you. In addition, the target grants combat advantage to all creatures until the end of your next turn. If no unoccupied space exists adjacent to you, you can't use this immediate reaction, and the target doesn't grant combat advantage as a result of this effect.

NEW BUILD

The swordmage class is featured in the FORGOTTEN REALMS® Player's Guide. This chapter presents an additional swordmage build, the ensnaring swordmage. The ensnaring swordmage focuses on battlefield control and on immobilizing, slowing, and knocking prone enemies. The build is also associated with a new aegis, the aegis of ensnarement, which allows you to teleport a marked enemy to you.

ENSNARING SWORDMAGE

You are a sly hunter who closes in on your prey, punishing an enemy for any missteps, and hounding it until it is vanquished. As an ensnaring swordmage, you are a clever defender who gains the tactically advantageous ground in a fight. You circle opponents and entrap them with careful swordplay, entangling spells, and cunning feints. You might also charge a foe to try to gain the advantage or to keep the creature from your allies.

Your use of spells to ensnare opponents requires physical and mental endurance. Intelligence should be your primary ability score, because it determines the accuracy and potency of your spells. You should also have a high Constitution score to strengthen your ensnaring spells.

Suggested Class Feature: aegis of ensnarement
Suggested Feat: Grasping Ensnarement*
Suggested Skills: Arcana, Athletics, Endurance, Insight

Suggested At-Will Powers: foesnare†, *stalker's strike

Suggested Encounter Power: *fox's feint

Suggested Daily Power: *dragon's teeth

*New option presented in this book

†Presented in the FORGOTTEN REALMS® Player's Guide

THE MARKED CONDITION

When you mark a creature, you force it to engage you or suffer the consequences. While that creature is marked by you, it takes a -2 penalty to attack rolls for any attack that doesn't include you as a target. In addition, powers, class features, magic item properties, and feats might have effects that trigger when the creature takes certain actions.

A creature can be subject to only one mark at a time, and a new mark supersedes a mark that was already in place. The effect you use to mark a creature determines how long the creature remains marked by you. Regardless of the mark's duration, it ends if someone else marks that creature, unless an effect says otherwise.

NEW SWORDMAGE POWERS

A swordmage must use a variety of spells to assault enemies and protect allies. The swordmage relies on aegis of shielding, aegis of assault, or aegis of ensnarement as the core of his or her defense. Many powers become more potent depending on a swordmage's aegis. An ensnaring swordmage relies on the aegis of ensnarement to bring an enemy close, but he or she also uses powers that immobilize, slow, or otherwise inhibit the movement of a foe. The powers in this chapter give the swordmage a more wide-ranging suite of options, allowing him or her to focus on specific damage types or attack ranges.

HALF-ELF SWORDMAGES

Half-elves are accomplished diplomats. They naturally learn a gamut of skills, and so half-elves viscerally appreciate the fusion of magic and swordplay that swordmages employ. They have the physical resilience to make capable ensnaring swordmages or shielding swordmages. Many half-elves take up blade and magic to defend themselves when traveling through hostile lands.

FIELD OF STONE

Dhal stopped. The trail ahead twisted into a field of weathered boulders. The great pale stones lay scattered around a fey crossing, a place where the world is warped by the proximity of the Feywild.

The location was a nightly destination for Dhal. Here, his instructor tutored him in the ways of blade and spell. Why the eladrin had selected Dhal as her sole student, he had never learned. The question seemed irrelevant now. She was a swordmage, and she said she was passing her craft to him. That was enough for Dhal.

In the span of a year, he had learned secrets that would have turned his parents' hair white, had they still been alive to care. He had developed his swordbond, mastered the ancient mysteries of the aegis, and discovered the power of combining sword and sorcery.

This night, something seemed different about the boulder field. A low wind breathed through the stones, whispering warnings. The shadows played against the moonlight, casting bleary silhouettes of things that weren't there.

"Teacher?" Dhal called.

A chill gust was his only answer.

Dhal pulled his sword from its sheath and advanced.

He conjured his arcane warding with his free hand, erecting the invisible magical field as a guard against some unseen menace.

He came close to the base of the mound that marked the fey crossing. The eladrin swordmage stood on its top, outlined by the full moon.

"Dhal," she said in a solemn voice, "are you ready for your final test?"

He swallowed nervously, but raised his sword in salute. "Yes, Teacher."

"Then prepare yourself."

The wind turned colder yet. For a moment, all was silent. Then the boulders around the mound began to tremble. All at once, they leapt together like joints on a closing fist. Dhal cried out in surprise, but his voice was blanketed by the thunder of grinding stone.

A troll of animate rock emerged from the collision of boulders and, without a moment's hesitation, charged Dhal.

Dhal responded instinctively to the attack. Arcane power swirled around his blade and outward toward the charging troll, engulfing it in an inferno.

The test had begun.

GODS AND SWORDMAGES

Kord, Corellon, and Ioun are popular deities among swordmages because of these gods' influence over war, magic, and knowledge, respectively. Avandra is favored by some swordmages who travel the world. Vecna seduces a few swordmages because of his influence over magic and secrets. Those swordmages see worshiping Vecna as a gateway to power.

The Raven Queen counts a handful of swordmages among her followers, for some view her control over destiny as a path to glory and legend. A few swordmages prefer to pursue their own fortunes, favoring Sehanine's doctrine of personal destiny.

Unseen Gauntlet

Swordmage Attack 3

Your words of magic create a gauntleted hand that wraps around your foe, crushing its windpipe and leaving it gasping for breath.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Force, Implement

Standard Action Ranged 5

Hit: 1d10 + Intelligence modifier force damage, and the target is immobilized until the end of your next turn.

Aegis of Ensnarement: The attack deals extra damage equal to your Constitution modifier.

GENASI SWORDMAGES

Their combination of mental and physical prowess makes genasi perfectly suited to become swordmages. Genasi are also ideal swordmages from an aesthetic standpoint. Swordmages can deal a variety of types of damage, and a genasi's ability to manifest elements means that both body and blade can crackle with lightning or burn with fire.

Genasi have a long tradition of becoming swordmages. Many genasi repudiate the claim that eladrin invented the swordmage style. Genasi allege that their earliest ancestors were responsible for the combination of magic and blade, though no evidence exists to confirm either race's assertion.

HALFLING SWORDMAGES

Nimble and quick, halflings rely on agility instead of size. Although the art of the swordmage is favored chiefly by eladrin and genasi, the knowledge has percolated through the world, and even a few halflings have picked it up. A halfling who takes up blade and magic uses size and luck to great advantage when defending. Rarely a battle goes by in which a halfling swordmage does not find use for his or her second chance racial trait. A halfling who becomes a swordmage is likely to be a shielding swordmage. Upon reaching the paragon tier, a halfling swordmage might choose the ghost blade paragon path (page 65) because of its increased mobility and evasiveness.

Shatterblade Swordmage Attack 7

In the blink of an eye, your weapon shatters into thousands of pieces that cut your foe. The weapon then reforms in your hand.

HUMAN SWORDMAGES

Like half-elves, humans are able learners and capable of taking quickly to the skills of the swordmage. Among the many humans inhabiting the world, a few learn this ancient practice. Often, human swordmages are foundlings who were raised by eladrin or genasi and taught the ancient art. These swordmages are proud of their heritage, and they can become as accomplished as any eladrin swordmage. Humans do not favor a particular style of swordmage fighting, instead leaning toward whatever technique their attributes fit.

SWORDMAGES IN THE WORLD

The lone traveler walking along a distant, borderland road; a hero described in epic poems by bards; an eladrin with wild hair and glyphs for tattoos; a human youth trained in the Feywild with a skill that few understand—any of these individuals might be a swordmage. Swordmages are more unusual than your average warrior. The combination of mental and physical skills makes a swordmage a rare find. In the tavern, a swordmage tends to draw curious glances at the least; more often, a swordmage is regarded with fear or respect.

DRAGONBORN SWORDMAGES

Although a dragonborn's high Strength seems ideal as a foundation for swordmage training, dragonborn rarely take up the cerebral art of combining sword and sorcery. However, a few dragonborn do rise to the intellectual challenge. The heritage of dragonborn promotes a strong bond with one's weapon, which encourages a few dragonborn warriors to pursue this vocation. Natural strength and dedicated study of the arcane arts can make a dragonborn suited to be an assault swordmage (described in the FORGOTTEN REALMS Player's Guide). A dragonborn who perseveres and continues his or her studies might then follow the sword of assault paragon path (page 68). By taking this path, a dragonborn swordmage can enhance his or her aegis of assault and use his or her Strength to add extra potency to already devastating magical attacks.

ELADRIN SWORDMAGES

For eladrin, swordplay is a skill as valued as the arcane arts. In fact, many believe that eladrin were the first to combine blade and magic. As a race that promotes study and mental achievement, eladrin are perfectly suited to be any type of swordmage. Their cunning in battle helps them evade physical blows while wearing the light armor typical of a swordmage. Eladrin swordmages often learn wizard powers that allow them to better control the battlefield, favoring such spells as ray of frost.

A tiefling's bloodhunt racial trait means that most tieflings favor the assault swordmage style (described in the FORGOTTEN REALMS Player's Guide). Similarly, the tiefling's infernal wrath power makes a tiefling swordmage tend to be more offense-oriented.

DWARF SWORDMAGES

Few dwarves choose to take up the arcane sword and learn the secret spells of the aegis. Many dwarves don't have the patience for the blade, instead favoring hammers and axes in combat. Others simply disdain spellcasting, preferring to rely on martial exploits and divine prayers. Dwarves are not entirely unreceptive to the art, though, for their physical endurance makes them able defenders. In addition, the resilience required to channel magic through one's body and into the blade makes dwarves capable swordmages when they focus on shielding allies or ensnaring foes. Unlike assault swordmages (described in the FORGOTTEN REALMS Player's Guide), dwarf swordmages focus on control and defense. Dwarves who excel as swordmages might consider the ward guardian paragon path (page 69), which further extends a swordmage's ability to defend allies.

NEW PARAGON PATHS

ARCANE HUNTER

"Every creature is vulnerable to my blade, for any resistance can be overcome."

Prerequisite: Swordmage, aegis of ensnarement class feature

You are adroit at spotting chinks in your enemies' defenses and taking advantage of those weaknesses to inflict debilitating blows. Your arcane senses give you the upper hand when you face creatures that rely on natural resistances.

As an arcane hunter, you might have been trained at an early age to visually recognize the physical weaknesses of creatures. Since then, your magical education has further refined those skills, allowing you to extend tendrils of unseen energy to feel out a foe's flaws.

In your studies and adventures, you have learned that adaptability is one of the best qualities when facing a variety of foes. Instead of specializing in one damage type or one type of attack, you prefer to have options.

ARCANE HUNTER PATH FEATURES

Knowing Strike (11th level): When you spend an action point to make an attack, that attack ignores all resistances and the insubstantial quality.

Perfect Strike (11th level): Whenever you score a critical hit, your attack deals extra damage equal to the target's highest vulnerability.

Exploitive Eye (16th level): Whenever you attack a creature that has one or more resistances, you treat those resistances as 10 lower than they are (minimum 0).

"From the space between worlds I come, my killing blow as soft as a whisper."

Prerequisite: Swordmage

Like many swordmages, you can effortlessly travel the roads behind the world. Those arcane pathways offer you more than they do your fellows, though, for you have actually learned to slip through the space between planes.

Your travels through the weave of reality have transformed your knowledge and skills. As you bend space with cunning strokes of your sword, you can be in two places at once, splitting your physical body between the dimensions. You might briefly take on the seeming of a ghostly spirit, but this appearance is only a temporary transformation. Even when you step between worlds, your blade doesn't fade—remaining a very real threat to your enemies.

Your eerie form has gained you the moniker of "ghost" in some circles. You smile to hear such nicknames, although they are untrue, because you know that fear is a valuable weapon.

GHOST BLADE PATH FEATURES

Slip the Weave (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you become insubstantial until the end of your next turn.

Here nor There (11th level): Whenever you use a teleportation power, you gain combat advantage against one target of the next weapon attack you make before the end of your next turn.

Stalker of the In-between (16th level): While you are insubstantial or have phasing, each creature marked by you grants combat advantage to you, and you add 2 squares to the distance your teleportation powers allow you to teleport.

Effect: Before each attack, you teleport to a space that must be adjacent to the target.

Attack: Intelligence vs. AC

Hit: 1[W] + Intelligence modifier damage.

Effect: Until you have attacked each eligible target once, you can teleport adjacent to a different target and repeat the attack against the new target. You then teleport back to your starting position.

SAGE OF FATE'S BONDS

"Every combat creates bonds between attacker and defender, bonds between allies. I see these bonds."

Prerequisite: Swordmage, aegis of ensnarement class feature

You can see the invisible bonds that connect creatures to the things around them. Your ability to recognize where these bonds are strongest and weakest gives you the power to strengthen or sever a bond when necessary. Your unique sight lets you see the paths that lie behind the world, and thus by cutting a creature's bond to the world, you can send a foe or an ally hurtling along a hidden path.

You are a master of gaining tactically advantageous positions in combat. You look for a central position on the battlefield from which you can utilize all your powers and abilities to send creatures careening through extradimensional space. You are concerned with terrains and obstacles only insofar as you can use them to your advantage.

Using your aegis of ensnarement, you thwart your foes' movements and leave them reeling. You can unleash a vicious jolt of magical feedback that shocks your foes. As a sage of fate's bonds, you want powers that allow you to mark as many foes as possible with your aegis of ensnarement, thereby giving you control of the battlefield and the power to dole out numerous jolts of lightning.

SAGE OF FATE'S BONDS PATH FEATURES

Bond of Transport (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you can teleport one creature that is adjacent to you 5 squares, or you can teleport one creature that is marked by your aegis of ensnarement 5 squares.

Bond of Fury (11th level): When a creature marked by your aegis of ensnarement hits with an attack that does not include you as a target, you can deal 2d8 + your Intelligence modifier lightning damage to the creature as an immediate reaction.

At 21st level, this damage increases to 3d8 + your Intelligence modifier.

Bond of Escape (16th level): When a creature marked by your aegis of ensnarement hits an ally with an attack that does not include you as a target, you can teleport the ally 5 squares as an immediate reaction.

SIGIL CARVER

"By carving sigils of strength and power into the air, I support my allies and foretell the doom of my foes."

Prerequisite: Swordmage, aegis of shielding class feature

Bereg-arnadh is the ancient eladrin art of drawing calligraphy with a blade. Bodyguards of the legendary eladrin queen Suiradrún were the first to use bereg-arnadh, and the practice has since become more widespread. Practitioners of this arcane tradition inscribe magical, glowing characters of Rellanic script into the air with their blades. These hovering runes are charged with arcane power from the calligrapher. The sigils hover for a short time, emitting a lambent radiance that evokes protection for allies or enmity toward foes.

Your mastery of the flying sword makes you an ideal practitioner of bereg-arnadh. Whether you studied texts to learn the art yourself, or you earned the right to study under a master of bereg-arnadh, you have gained the ability to wield the arcane art on the battlefield. On the tip of your blade, you sculpt runes, the mere sight of which strikes fear into your adversaries.

SIGIL CARVER PATH FEATURES

Energizing Sigil (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, one ally within 5 squares of you can roll a saving throw against each effect on him or her that a save can end.

Bolstering Sigil (11th level): Any allies adjacent to you gain a +2 power bonus to all defenses.

Punishing Sigil (16th level): Whenever an enemy marked by you within 5 squares of you hits an ally who is adjacent to you, you can make a melee basic attack against that enemy as an opportunity action. You can make the attack even if the creature is beyond your normal reach.

SIGIL CARVER SPELLS

Aegis Sigil

Sigil Carver Attack 11

You etch the air with sigils of power. The runes linger for a moment and then burn into a struck foe.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Weapon

Standard Action Melee weapon

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. AC

Hit: 3[W] + Intelligence modifier damage.

Effect: Until the end of the target's next turn, it is marked by your aegis of shielding. Marking the target does not remove the mark on another target already affected by your aegis of shielding.

Sigil of Safety

Sigil Carver Utility 12

Just as your ally is about to suffer a blow, you carve a few quick runes in the air and transport the ally out of harm's way.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Teleportation

Immediate Interrupt Close burst 5

Trigger: An attack hits an ally within 5 squares of you

Target: The ally who was hit

Effect: You teleport the target to a space within 5 squares of you. The target gains a +4 bonus to all defenses against the triggering attack.

Sigil of Enmity

Sigil Carver Attack 20

Your rune-enhanced weapon strike marks a foe as the nemesis of you and your allies, making attacks against it more potent.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Weapon

Standard Action Melee weapon

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. AC

Hit: 2[W] + Intelligence modifier damage.

Effect: Until the end of the encounter, when any of your allies hits the target with a melee attack during his or her turn, the attack deals 2d6 extra damage.

SWORD OF ASSAULT

"The best defense is beating your foe into submission."

Prerequisite: Swordmage, aegis of assault class feature

Although arcane finesse and delicate sword work are fine for others, you believe that better ways exist to subdue your enemies. You wonder why you should use subtlety when you can more quickly defeat your foe with a powerful sword strike combined with a blast of arcane energy.

As a sword of assault, you are interested in fusing magic with blade to create the most powerful attack you can. You have little tolerance for rigorous arcane training, preferring to use magic in a blast of raw elemental energy instead of a carefully crafted spell.

Similarly, you never saw the point of the refined swordplay of your counterparts, instead favoring strength over finesse. You believe that displaying your skill through elaborate parries and flourishes is an expression of a swordmaster's ego, rather than of skill. In your mind, such displays only slow battle. On the other hand, you make sure that all of your movements and arcane utterances contribute to the most devastating attack you can possibly deliver with a single swing of your blade.

SWORD OF ASSAULT PATH FEATURES

Assaulting Charge (11th level): When you spend an action point to charge, you can use a melee at-will attack power or a melee encounter attack power in place of the charge's melee basic attack.

Battlemage Readiness (11th level): When you use your aegis of assault to teleport and make an attack, you can use a swordmage melee at-will attack power in place of the melee basic attack.

Double Spell Assault (16th level): Whenever you roll initiative, choose one of your at-will attack powers. Once before the end of the encounter, you can use that power as a minor action after hitting with a melee attack.

SWORD OF ASSAULT SPELLS

Spell Strike

Sword of Assault Attack 11

Your magic infuses a normal weapon attack with arcane power that might scorch, freeze, rot, poison, shock, or blast your foe.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Weapon; Varies

Standard Action Melee weapon

Target: One creature

Hit: 1[W] + Intelligence modifier plus 2d6 + Strength modifier acid, cold, fire, lightning, necrotic, poison, radiant, or thunder damage.

Sword of Assault Utility 12

In the heat of battle, sometimes one aegis is not enough. Luckily, you know a spell that allows you to bestow another.

Encounter ♦ Arcane

Minor Action Close burst 5

Target: One creature in burst

Effect: The target is marked by your aegis of assault. Marking the creature does not remove the mark on another target already affected by your aegis of assault.

Fire and Thunder

Your weapon thrums with fire and thunder, which explode across your foe and leave the creature aflame and senseless.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Fire, Thunder, Weapon

Standard Action Melee weapon

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. AC

Hit: 5[W] + Intelligence modifier fire and thunder damage, and the target takes ongoing 5 fire damage and is deafened (save ends both).

Miss: Half damage.

WARD GUARDIAN

"My warding protects me, but it is more than just a shield. By my will and magic, it can become a deadly force, or a sheltering fortification."

Prerequisite: Swordmage

In your earliest arcane training, you learned to sheathe yourself in a layer of magical protection. This protection is your Swordmage Warding, and it represents an extension of your arcane mastery. Unlike other swordmages, though, you have taken this talent to the next level.

You have long studied the secrets of the Swordmage Warding, and you have learned that the magical field is more flexible than most swordmages assume it to be. You have discovered that you can shape and sculpt your warding. Through careful study, you have learned to transform the warding into a protective barrier for your allies and into a dangerous weapon to distract or strike foes.

WARD GUARDIAN PATH FEATURES

Guardian's Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to make an attack, any allies you can see gain the benefit of your Swordmage Warding until the end of your next turn.

Spellshield (11th level): When you become bloodied, choose a defense other than AC. Until you are no longer bloodied, your Swordmage Warding grants a bonus to the chosen defense as well as to AC.

Reactive Spellshield (16th level): Any allies within 5 squares of you gain the benefit of your Swordmage Warding against opportunity attacks.

WARD GUARDIAN SPELLS

Ward Force Assault Ward Guardian Attack 11

With intense concentration and magical power, you expand your warding to include those around you.

Daily ♦ Arcane
Standard Action Personal

Effect: Until the end of your next turn, any allies adjacent to you gain the benefit of your Swordmage Warding.
Sustain Minor: The effect persists.

Unseen Entanglement Ward Guardian Attack 20

As you swing, you shape the protective power of your warding into an entangling thread that thwarts your foe's defenses.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Weapon
Standard Action Melee weapon

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. AC

Hit: 5[W] + Intelligence modifier + Constitution modifier damage. In addition, the target takes a -3 penalty to any defense to which your Swordmage Warding is currently granting a bonus (save ends).

Miss: Half damage. Until the end of your next turn, the target takes a -1 penalty to any defense to which your Swordmage Warding is currently granting a bonus.

WARLOCK

“By the Chains of Levistus, the Thousand Eyes of Gibbeth, and the pacts sworn in Bael Turath, I curse thee to the blackest pits of Hell!”

WARLOCKS CALL upon powerful, ancient magic. They commune with primeval entities, treat with devilish or fey visitors in the darkest hours, and spend hours studying the night sky while mouthing the names of constellations and stars. A warlock’s pact might favor a particular style of curse or hex, but that fact doesn’t pigeonhole a warlock into a specific goal or ambition. Even if your warlock chooses the infernal pact, he can remain a tome-toting scholar captivated by ominous lore. If your warlock chooses the star pact, she need not give herself over to entities of the Far Realm; instead, she might search for elusive truths.

Warlocks are purveyors of secrets that others wish to be ignorant of. Those secrets are the keys that unlock the power of hexes, curses, and eldritch incantations. From one point of view, warlocks have taken a shortcut to power. Instead of undertaking careful study and practice, a warlock swears a pact to an entity that provides power in return for fealty. A few warlocks are consumed by their oaths, becoming the worst kind of spellcaster—one who uses magic to tyrannize the weak without remorse. Those warlocks who can withstand the dominating personalities of their pact holders have the potential to become powerful forces in the world and across the planes.

This chapter supports the warlock builds presented in the Player’s Handbook. It contains the following material.

- ◆ New Eldritch Pact: The vestige pact allows a warlock to call on a diverse assortment of entities for new powers.
- ◆ New Warlock Powers: This section supplements the star, fey, infernal, and dark pacts, in addition to providing powers for the vestige pact.
- ◆ New Paragon Paths: This section provides general paragon paths that any warlock can take and presents paths for specific Eldritch Pacts.

NEW ELDRITCH PACT

Your warlock has forged a pact with mysterious entities that grant you spells, curses, and other abilities. The pact you choose determines your at-will powers, your pact boon, and additional benefits to certain warlock powers. A power's description details the effect a particular Eldritch Pact class feature has on it.

The Player's Handbook describes the fey pact, the infernal pact, and the star pact. The FORGOTTEN REALMS Player's Guide describes the dark pact. Arcane Power introduces the vestige pact, which draws upon mislaid spheres of power, forgotten eldritch influences, and allegiances that most believe have been concluded or discontinued.

VESTIGE PACT

You have forged relationships with vestiges—the remnants of powerful forces and entities that once exercised great authority or demonstrated awful capabilities. These remnants are diverse in their backgrounds and motives. As a vestige pact warlock, you can choose from between two or more vestige pacts to fuel your arcane power.

Eyes of the Vestige: You know the eyes of the vestige spell. You gain an additional effect, referred to as an eyes of the vestige augment, associated with your active vestige (see below) when you make a successful attack with this power.

Pact Boon: You have a pact boon associated with your active vestige.

When an enemy under your Warlock's Curse drops to 0 hit points or fewer, you gain the benefit of your active vestige's pact boon.

USING VESTIGES

You always have one active vestige. As a beginning character, you have access to the two primary vestiges: King Elidyr and Zutwa. You select one of these as your active vestige after a short rest or an extended rest.

BUILD AND ATTITUDE

How does your warlock character's build affect his or her personality? Although a warlock need not have a personality associated with his or her pact, it is easy to imagine an infernal pact warlock as cunning and mischievous, and a star pact warlock as absentminded. A fey pact warlock might be more caring, ensuring the preservation of animals and plants, while a dark pact warlock might see creatures of the surface as impediments to his or her goals. A vestige pact warlock tends to be bookish and scholarly, more akin to a wizard.

Changing Your Vestige: You can gain temporary access to other vestiges by using certain daily attack powers. (For ease of identification, all these powers have names that begin with "Vestige.") When you use a power that gives you access to a daily power vestige, you can choose for that vestige to immediately become your active vestige. If you do so, it remains your active vestige until you gain access to a different vestige by using another daily attack power or until the end of the encounter. If you don't immediately choose to change to that daily power vestige, your access to that vestige is lost until the next time you use that power.

After a short rest or an extended rest, you again select one of the two primary vestiges to be your active vestige. That vestige remains active until you change to a daily power vestige or until you take another short rest or extended rest.

In addition, certain benefits (such as the Vestige Adept feat; see page 130) allow you to change your vestige at a different time or under different circumstances.

NEW WARLOCK POWERS

VESTIGE PACT BOONS

The pact boons associated with the primary vestiges are given below. Other pact boons are described in the daily attack powers that give you access to new vestiges.

King Elidyr Pact Boon: One ally adjacent to you gains a +2 bonus to all defenses until the end of your next turn.

Zutwa Pact Boon: The bonus to attack rolls from your Prime Shot increases to +3 until the end of your next turn.

EXAMPLE

You're a vestige pact warlock who likes the vestige of King Elidyr, so after an extended rest, you choose that to be your active vestige.

During your first encounter of the day, when you use the eyes of the vestige power, you gain the eyes of the vestige augment associated with King Elidyr. If you curse a creature and that enemy then drops to 0 hit points or fewer, your King Elidyr pact boon triggers.

Later in the same encounter, you decide to use the vestige of Mount Vaelis daily attack power. That power gives you access to a new vestige, Mount Vaelis, and you choose to make the change. When you adopt this new active vestige, your pact boon and your eyes of the vestige augment both change to the benefits that Mount Vaelis provides. You no longer gain the benefits of the vestige of King Elidyr. The only time you can change your active vestige back to King Elidyr (or to Zutwa, the other primary vestige) is after a short rest or an extended rest.

If you use another daily power in the same encounter that gives you access to a new vestige, you can choose for that daily power vestige to replace Mount Vaelis as your active vestige.

KING ELIDYR AND ZUTWA

Your first two vestiges are King Elidyr and Zutwa. They give out their power freely and recklessly.

King Elidyr: A hundred years ago, Elidyr, the last king of Nerath, warred against gnoll invaders who marched beneath the banner of the Ruler of Ruin. The gnoll uprising was finally quelled, but at the cost of the lives of King Elidyr, his heirs, and most of his trusted barons, dukes, and champions. King Elidyr's vestige is rueful over its failure, and it willingly gives its strength to any who call upon it.

Zutwa: An ancient being of manifest life force, Zutwa was a towering figure as large as a mountain, composed of bark, boughs, grass, leaves, and petals. Its limpid eyes of liquid green could spawn life in barren soil or dead tissue, or deprive earth and flesh of vitality. Zutwa gave up its existence to defeat a primordial of manifest dissolution. Even as a vestige, Zutwa's energy seems inexhaustible to those who make a pact with it.

These new warlock powers flesh out the vestige pact and provide additional options for other warlocks.

Spells of the vestige pact use your Constitution score, because managing numerous and diverse vestiges takes a physical toll. The ancient powers of the vestige pact hunger to consume a warlock's body and use it for their own purposes, and a warlock must resist these forces if he or she is to survive.

The tiefling is the prototypical warlock. The race's innately high Charisma and Intelligence tend to make tieflings favor the class. PACT INITIATE

Adrin is an elf rogue from the Witchwood, a cheerful and gregarious citizen of a small, close-knit community of elves and eladrin. Although he thrives on the company of other people, he also enjoys wandering through the forest—at least, he used to. That changed when he encountered a presence, a fey being of enormous power, ancient wisdom, and primal hunger. The being scared him senseless, but left

Adrin with arcane power he didn't possess before (reflected in the Pact Initiate feat, with the fey pact). Adrin is terrified of what the fey being is going to ask in exchange for the power it gave him, and his sleep is tormented by nightmares about this encounter. After that experience, Adrin left the Witchwood for the nearby town of Brindol, and if he never enters the forest again, he will be content.

Your passage through the world leaves its mark. As you walk, arcane energy burns and congeals around you. Depending on your pact and your idea of your character, you might imagine the effect of your Shadow Walk class feature as fey energy sparkling around you and hiding you from clear view, the utter blackness of the Underdark clinging to you, or sulfurous smoke straight from the Nine Hells billowing around you. It's up to you to decide whether your warlock is constantly surrounded by this concealing cloud—even while you're walking down a city street doing your shopping—or if it's only active while you're in combat. If it's always active, it's a good idea to remind your DM of it once in a while, so the NPCs you meet respond appropriately.

PACTS AND POWERS

The warlock spells in the Player's Handbook all identify the pact they're associated with, but the spells in this book don't include that information. After looking at the Player's Handbook, many players felt constrained to choose the powers associated with their pact, which is far too limiting. If you're a fey pact warlock, you don't have to choose only fey pact powers—any warlock spell that uses Charisma (including dark pact powers and some star pact powers) is a fine choice for you. If you want to, you can tweak the descriptions, flavor, or even the names of your powers to reflect your pact or the particular patron you choose.

Some powers in this book give particular effects based on your choice of pact, and even offer different effects for different pacts. For example, the fortune's reversal spell (page 74) has a baseline effect, a slightly different effect if you have the dark pact, and a still different effect if you have the fey pact. Furthermore, certain items and feats have benefits that apply when you use a warlock power of a particular pact. Such powers can be identified either by the pact name appearing in parentheses in the title line of the power, or by the pact's name appearing as a subhead in the power entry.

PACTS AND ABILITY SCORES

You can take one of two basic approaches to your ability scores as a warlock. First, you can put your highest score in either Charisma or Constitution, choose only powers that use that ability for attack rolls and damage rolls, and put your next highest score in Intelligence in order to get the best possible boost from powers that have secondary effects based on your Intelligence. This is the approach suggested in the Player's Handbook. The advantage to this approach is that you get the most bang for your Intelligence buck, but if you select attack powers that don't use the ability you chose, those will be clearly inferior to your other attack powers. Effectively, you're limited to half of the available powers—the ones that use whichever ability you choose as your highest score.

The second approach is to keep both your Charisma and your Constitution high, making Intelligence your third-highest score (and probably a distant third). If you go this route, you can choose any warlock power and know that your attack rolls and damage rolls will be more or less equal, so you have the maximum flexibility in your power selection. On the downside, you won't get as much benefit from powers that have effects related to Intelligence.

Which approach is best for you is really up to you to decide. It's worth spending some time when you create your warlock character to think about the powers you're going to want as you progress through your career, so you can weigh the importance of Intelligence to your character and make the right choices for your ability scores.

WARLOCK'S CURSE

What happens to your enemies when you lay your curse upon them? Unless you have a magic item that imposes additional effects, the effects in the game are very straightforward: The target takes more damage from your attacks. But what's happening from the perspective of your character—and the monster you target with your curse?

Fundamentally, you're creating a bond between you and the target—that's part of the reason your curse works only on the nearest target you can see. Perhaps you simply create a conduit between yourself and the target that makes the power you wield flow more easily to the target, so you can imbue your spells with a little extra strength as they course along that conduit to your foe. Or you might briefly mention the target's name to whatever entity gives you your power, focusing that being's alien attention on your foe so your spells carry more power.

When you put your curse on a creature, the target knows it. The creature might experience it as a chill down the spine, a prickle at the back of its neck, a nauseated feeling in its stomach, or an unpleasant sense of dread. It might have a brief flash of vision revealing the source of your power, terrible and awesome in its mind. Many creatures respond to that feeling with fear, and many others react with aggression directed at the source of the curse—you. It's never a bad idea to have a defender in place between you and the target of your curse.

GODS AND WARLOCKS

More than members of other classes, warlocks are known for their impiety. Warlocks channel power from creatures and entities that are often enemies of the gods, and thus warlocks are bound to wonder what the gods can offer that they do not already have. However, in a world where the gods have specific goals and can manifest physically, some warlocks realize that they cannot ignore the pantheon entirely. A few warlocks find that devotion to a particular god can further their own goals as well as those of the deity.

Avandra is a popular deity among warlocks because of her influence over adventure. Warlocks who search for secrets and ancient knowledge, even if they're not evil, might revere Vecna. As the god of knowledge, Ioun has appeal for warlocks who seek to learn more about the enigmatic creatures with which they make pacts. Beyond these three, all the deities in the pantheon count some warlocks among their worshipers. Warlocks who view magical skill as an art form, including many elves and eladrin, worship Corellon. Dwarf warlocks who seek to protect their communities worship Moradin. Pelor is popular among good-aligned warlocks who use their eldritch powers to scour evil, and the Raven Queen is a favored deity among warlocks who seek only to deliver death with their powers.

WARLOCKS AND LIFE FORCE

Warlocks deal extensively with the life force of all beings—the energy that animates even undead creatures. When you place your Warlock's Curse on a creature, you bind its life force to yours. Your Prime Shot feature (unlike the ranger's similar feature) relies on your ability to manipulate an enemy's life force when no competing sources of life force are nearby. Many of your powers manipulate life force directly (such as life force reclaimed), and the life-stealer paragon path (Player's Handbook, page 141) is the ultimate expression of this tendency in warlock powers. For an infernal pact warlock like the life-stealer, manipulation of enemies' life force is clearly sinister, and it's part of what makes all warlocks frightening to common folk.

How does your warlock view this use and abuse of enemies' life force? Is it a distasteful but necessary part of your magic? Do you derive pleasure or sustenance from it? Is it an almost addictive, dangerous habit you would just as soon break if you could? Or is it a foretaste of the destiny you will someday embrace, when as a terrible demigod of annihilation you will feast on the lives of nations?

Some half-elves feel trapped between two worlds they're not truly part of, and they turn to dark pacts to find escape or revenge. Others see their dual heritage as a unique source of power, allowing them to harness fey forces without being bound by those forces. Whatever their situation or outlook, half-elves excel as warlocks, putting their naturally high Charisma and Constitution to work to help them master the spells of any pact with relative ease.

DEVA WARLOCKS

However, after enough reincarnations, some devas are attracted to the idea of pursuing an out-of-the-ordinary career, and so one might take up the warlock class. Although a deva can't consciously recall the details of his or her previous life, a deva warlock often selects a pact connected in some way to previous experiences. Such individuals tend to take the fey pact or the vestige pact. They typically avoid the infernal, star, and dark pacts, believing such oaths to invite corruption and rebirth as a rakshasa.

ELF WARLOCKS

Like eladrin, elves are not known for making eldritch pacts. Elves who become warlocks usually take the fey pact to connect with their fey origin. Elf warlocks often pick up some martial powers to supplement their arcane abilities, relying on attacks that utilize Dexterity.

DARK RECKONER

"There is an old drow saying: 'Vengeance is sweeter when exacted in darkness.'"

Prerequisite: Warlock, dark pact

You deter creatures with physical and psychological threats when they intend to harm you, your allies, or other things important to you. You believe that threats mean nothing, though, if you are not willing to deliver on them. When intimidation fails, you visit vengeance swiftly and fully upon the offending party.

In your mind, vengeance is a virtue. As a warlock of the dark pact, you viscerally understand the concept of vengeance. Many of the entities with which you make pacts are consumed by revenge. In the Underdark, slights and rivalries fester and give birth to bouts of ruthless skulduggery and sinister schemes.

As a dark reckoner, you have internalized your baleful emotions and feelings of injustice. From dark alleyways and unlighted tunnels, you draw inspiration and purpose. You understand that vengeance is a potent source of power.

Your ways are mysterious and frightening to other creatures. When you use your spells, and even when you speak, people sit and listen, enraptured by the hypnotic sound of your words and mesmerized by your eyes. GOD FRAGMENT

"When a god dies, it leaves behind power that lingers. I will find a way to access one of these dead gods and tap into its power."

Prerequisite: Warlock, vestige pact

Gods, primordials, and other powerful beings are sometimes preserved in the Astral Sea after their deaths. Drifting through the starry mists like immortal flotsam, they slumber through the millennia, awaiting the divine spark that might reawaken them. As the ages pass, the drifting corpses transform into astral matter.

Your curiosity was kindled when you first heard the term "dead god" while studying vestiges. Something about the concept of dead immortals fascinated you. And why not? When a god dies, where does its power go? You discovered the answer to this question: The power becomes dormant, crystallizing into a solid form within the Astral Sea. There, it drifts across the starry expanse, forgotten but not destroyed.

You study the history of deceased deities, primordials, and other legendary beings. From these accounts, you learn to siphon the beings' lost energy and dormant power. However, you know that real power lies in locating the crystallized essence of one of these dead immortals and awakening its full force.

Prerequisite: Warlock, infernal pact

Your choice to swear a pact to an infernal entity in exchange for power was not an easy choice, but it was a choice you made with open eyes. You understand the moral dangers implicit in your pact, but you believe that your soul can withstand the physical and mental forces of Hell. Though devils constantly attempt to lure you into their sinister plots, you remain steadfast against their persuasion.

When an opportunity came to claim even more strength from your devilish patrons, you leaped at it. You accepted their empowering flames, wearing your might like a crown. Sometimes your allies worry about the ultimate fate of your soul, but you laugh off their concern. You assure them that you are in no danger, and that they need not pity you. Effect: You create a dimensional rift between the two target squares that lasts until the end of your next turn. Any creature that enters one of the target squares can move to the other target square as if it were adjacent to that square. A creature cannot pass through the rift if either square is occupied by another creature. Each enemy that moves from one gate square to the other takes 1d10 + your Constitution modifier fire damage.

Sustain Minor: The gates persist.

HEXER

"Art can be created in any medium. Painters draw images on canvas, bards write epic narratives, and musicians compose sweet harmonies. I spit curses of such beauty and potency that all who hear them are stricken."

Prerequisite: Warlock

Any warlock can scream "I curse you!" but in your opinion, such curses are shallow and meaningless. Such a simple, insubstantial curse is a betrayal of the warlock's ability to channel arcane might wrested from primeval entities. A normal curse might be enough to make an enemy quail, but you believe a curse should curdle the blood and elicit wide-eyed, slack-jawed shock.

You have delved deeply into the intricacies of crafting curses. You have discovered that greater effects can be wrung from a well-placed curse than most warlocks realize. When you place a hex, your foes reel from the power of your curse. You have learned to weave your spells with your curses and your curses with your spells. Your body and mind resonate with the damning curses you articulate. When you speak, all who hear your words flinch.

HEXER PATH FEATURES

Damning Curse (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, each creature under your Warlock's Curse takes a -2 penalty to attack rolls until the end of your next turn.

Greater Hex (11th level): Instead of placing your Warlock's Curse on the nearest enemy to you that you can see, you can place your Warlock's Curse on any single enemy within 5 squares that you can see.

Walking Curse (16th level): Whenever your Warlock's Curse deals damage to a creature, you can slide that creature 1 square.

HEXER SPELLS

Hit: 3d10 + Charisma or Constitution modifier psychic damage.

Effect: Until the end of the encounter, you can place your Warlock's Curse on each enemy that ends its turn adjacent to the target, and that enemy takes 2d6 damage when you curse it.

MASTER OF THE STARRY NIGHT

"The stars are points of light burning beyond the world. Some believe them to be windows through which inimical creatures study our cosmos. In my view, that's a parochial conception of stars, at best."

Prerequisite: Warlock, star pact

You understand the true nature of stars, and your knowledge surpasses that of nearly all other creatures. You have studied all the standard texts of star pact warlocks. You found the interpretations contained within those tomes to be catastrophic if accepted as fact. Perhaps some stars are windows into the Far Realm, as many star pact warlocks claim. You suspect that many stars hold other secrets, though. Thus, you have forged a new set of beliefs.

With your star charts, astrolabe, and viewing glass, you have determined the luminosity and motion of many stars. You have plumbed their colors, their sizes, and most important, the power they offer to a warlock. You understand the symbiosis of nature and magic that is embodied by the stars, and so you have twisted your pact into something different from those of your counterparts. You no longer fear the depths of the sky, for you are the master of the starry night.

MASTER OF THE STARRY NIGHT PATH FEATURES

Starcrossed Action (11th level): When you spend an action point, one creature cursed by you is dazed until the end of your next turn.

Star-Blessed Wanderer (11th Level): If you use the bonus from your Fate of the Void pact boon on an attack roll and you miss with the attack, you retain the bonus until the end of your next turn.

Fate of the Body (16th level): As a free action during your turn, you can expend your Fate of the Void bonus to gain an equivalent bonus to speed or to one defense until the end of your next turn.

MASTER OF THE STARRY NIGHT SPELLS

You can see the doom of your enemies, and that foresight lets you benefit from your boon.

Encounter ♦ Arcane

Target: One creature

Attack: Charisma vs. Reflex

Hit: 4d10 + Charisma modifier radiant damage. Until the end of the encounter, whenever you hit the target, it takes 2d6 extra radiant damage.

SEA TYRANT ORACLE

"I have looked upon the glittering sea that reflects past and future. My visions reveal both hope and disaster."

Prerequisite: Warlock, vestige pact

An oracle appeared to you in dream. She strode from a cave mouth, arrayed in the sea-green robes of an ancient prophet, and called herself the scion of the Sea Tyrant. "Behold!" she declared, revealing a vision of a terrible flood in which legions of angels were swept into eternal chaos. After showing you this disaster, the oracle bathed your eyes in water, and your vision was forever changed.

Like the prophets of old, you are capable of gaining horrible insights into the future. In most cases, your predictions extend so far ahead in time that you can do little to affect the course of events. However, you sometimes predict imminent events, and in these cases, you can take steps to avert or fulfill the occurrences you foresaw.

SEA TYRANT ORACLE PATH FEATURES

Visionary Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to use an at-will or encounter attack power that misses all targets, you gain an extra standard action that you must use before the end of the encounter.

Future Foreseen (11th level): The first time you fail a skill check, an ability check, or a saving throw during an encounter, you can reroll the check or the saving throw. You must use the second result.

Future Evaded (16th level): The first time an enemy cursed by you ends its move adjacent to you during an encounter, you can shift 2 squares as an immediate interrupt.

SEA TYRANT ORACLE SPELLS

Miss: Half damage.

Effect: You gain access to the vestige of the Sea Tyrant.

Sea Tyrant Pact Boon: You slide one creature cursed by you that you can see a number of squares equal to your Constitution modifier.

Eyes of the Vestige Augment: You also slide your eyes of the vestige target a number of squares equal to your Intelligence modifier.

STORM SCOURGE

"The world reels from my wrath, for I ride upon storms and carry wind and lightning in my footsteps."

Prerequisite: Warlock, fey pact

In a small tome called Fey Pacts of Ancient Days, you discovered the names of ancient archfey once revered by primitive humans. The tome described Neifion the Lord of Bats, Zebechial the Lord of Lightning, and Morrissa the Lady of Swords.

You were amazed and intrigued. You could feel a power within each name calling out to you. These ancient entities, so long forgotten, offered you strength in exchange for devotion.

You eventually acquiesced, swearing yourself to the fey creature whose ethos you believed most matched your own: the Lord of Lightning. Now, the entity whispers secrets of the storm to you from his floating demesne within the Feywild. You listen carefully to each utterance, every growl of the storm or roar of lightning. Although the Lord of Lightning seems most concerned with unleashing the force of the storm, you have gained much power under his tutelage. It might be only a matter of time before your own spells rival the power of your master.

STORM SCOURGE PATH FEATURES

Lightning Quick (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you become lightning quick until the end of your next turn. While you are lightning quick, you can shift 1 square as a free action each time you hit or miss with an attack.

Zebechial's Blessing (11th level): You gain resistance to lightning equal to one-half your level + your Charisma modifier.

Eldritch Storm (11th level): You can choose to have your eldritch blast deal lightning damage.

Servant of the Lord of Lightning (16th level): When you hit a creature with a lightning attack power, each enemy adjacent to the target takes lightning damage equal to your Intelligence modifier.

STORM SCOURGE SPELLS

Lightning Dance Storm Scourge Utility 12

Lightning crackles around you, striking any enemy that hits you and allowing you to close with it.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Lightning, Teleportation
Minor Action Personal

Effect: Until the end of the encounter, whenever a melee attack hits you, the attacker takes lightning damage equal to your Intelligence modifier, and you can teleport to any space adjacent to the attacker as an immediate reaction.

Wrath of the Clouds Storm Scourge Attack 20

Lightning leaps around your enemy, lashing the creature whenever it is distracted by another attack.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Implement, Lightning

Target: One creature

Attack: Charisma vs. Reflex

Hit: 2d10 + Charisma modifier + Intelligence modifier lightning damage.

Effect: Whenever the target is hit by an attack, the target takes lightning damage equal to your Intelligence modifier (save ends). The target cannot save against this effect until it is hit at least once.

WIZARD

"Spells trip from my tongue and sizzle from my fingertips. Few can gainsay me. A lifetime of arcane study is my burden, but also my delight."

THE WIZARD embodies arcane magic to most people, and rightfully so. Of all who deal in the arcane, you truly understand the magical principles that underlie reality. Others might exploit its power, but only imperfectly.

As a painter composes an image on a blank canvas or a sculptor reveals the form imprisoned in dull stone, you manipulate magic to create expressions of power. Your art, although beautiful, is also lethal. You are driven to constantly improve your craft, studying ever more intricate rituals, acquiring newer and more powerful implements, and developing even mightier spells.

Beyond the orbs, rods, staves, and wands familiar to arcane casters, another implement is the purview of wizards alone. Your tome is a repository of scribbled arcane secrets through which to channel your power.

Whether you prefer to attack your foes directly or work your devious will against them, this chapter contains something for every kind of wizard. In its pages you will find the following material.

- ◆ New Implements: Choose a new way to use orbs, or take up a new implement. Use the arcane secrets found in your tome to make the most of your new powers.
- ◆ New Builds: Illusionist wizards and summoner wizards focus on specialized magical disciplines.
- ◆ New Wizard Powers: Learn new ways to hinder your foes, including illusion and summoning spells, and discover spells that complement your chosen implement.
- ◆ New Paragon Paths: Six new paths beckon as your wizard increases in power, focusing on specialized techniques such as invisibility and teleportation, or even exploiting random chance.

NEW IMPLEMENTS

The Player's Handbook describes how wizards can make use of orbs, staves, and wands to help channel and direct their arcane power. Now wizards can add the tome to their available implements and choose it for their Arcane Implement Mastery class feature.

NEW ARCANES IMPLEMENT MASTERY OPTIONS

Wizards can choose a new form of orb mastery or elect to master the tome implement.

NEW ORB OPTION

Many wizards use an orb implement to strengthen and extend their spells' duration, but some have perfected its use as a tool of trickery.

You can choose Orb of Deception as a new Arcane Implement Mastery class feature.

Orb of Deception: Once per encounter as a free action, when you miss an enemy with a wizard illusion power, choose another enemy within 3 squares of the missed target. The chosen enemy cannot also be a target of the original attack. Repeat the attack against this new target, with a bonus to the attack roll equal to your Charisma modifier.

You must wield an orb to benefit from this feature. Illusionist wizards select this form of mastery to spread a wider net of deception over foes.

TOME OPTIONS

Wizards who choose the tome implement can select from two forms of Arcane Implement Mastery, one useful to summoner wizards and the other of more general benefit.

Tome of Binding: Once per encounter, as a free action, if you use your tome when using an arcane summoning power, all creatures summoned by that power gain a bonus to damage rolls equal to your Constitution modifier.

You must wield a tome to benefit from this feature. Summoner wizards prefer this form of tome mastery because of its obvious benefits to their summoning spells. This form of mastery also provides benefits to certain conjuration powers.

Tome of Readiness: When you select this form of implement mastery, choose a wizard encounter attack power of your level or lower that you don't already know. That power is now stored and available for your use at a later time.

Once per encounter as a free action, you can use the stored power by expending another unused wizard encounter attack power of its level or higher. You must still take the normal action required to use the stored power.

Each time you reach a level that lets you choose an encounter power, you can replace the stored power with a new wizard encounter attack power of your level or lower that you do not already know.

You must wield a tome to benefit from this feature. Wizards of all builds appreciate this form of mastery because of the flexibility it allows them during combat.

NEW KEYWORD: SUMMONING

Powers that have the summoning keyword bring creatures from other planes to serve you in a variety of ways.

SUMMONED CREATURE

A creature you summon uses these rules, unless a power description says otherwise.

- ◆ Allied Creature: When you use a summoning power, you create a creature that is an ally to you and your allies. The power determines where the summoned creature appears.
- ◆ Your Defenses: The summoned creature's defenses equal yours when you summon it, not including any temporary bonuses or penalties to your statistics.
- ◆ Hit Points: The summoned creature's maximum hit points equal your bloodied value. When the summoned creature drops to 0 hit points, it is destroyed, and you lose a healing surge. If you have no healing surges left, you instead take damage equal to half your bloodied value.

SUMMON BLACK DEVOURER

Meriele sighed as the fiery soldiers surrounded the paladin. "Well, Daren," she said, "looks like I'm saving your hide again."

She drew a slow breath and closed her eyes for a moment, fixing the darkness in her mind. The first syllable that issued from her mouth came out as a screeching sound near Daren's position that made the paladin cringe. Meriele extended her wand and flexed the fingers of her other hand into a claw, and her next syllable opened the rift into darkness.

From that point, the creature she was calling aided her in the spell. She summoned, it answered, and it worked its tentacles into the breach to open a clear pathway into the world from whatever space Beyond it normally inhabited.

To Meriele, the seconds stretched as the black devourer wormed its way through the tear in space, unfurled its long tentacles, and took up its position near the fire archons. Then the spell was cast, time resumed its normal pace, and the black devourer began its devastation.

- ◆ No Healing Surges: The summoned creature lacks healing surges, but if a power allows it to spend a healing surge, you can spend a healing surge for it. The summoned creature then gains the benefit of the healing surge, instead of your gaining it.
- ◆ Speed: The summoning power determines the summoned creature's speed.
- ◆ Commanding the Creature: The summoned creature has no actions of its own; you spend actions to command it mentally. You can command the creature only if you have line of effect to it. When you command the creature, the two of you share knowledge but not senses.

As a minor action, you can command the summoned creature to take one of the following actions, if it is physically capable of taking that action: crawl, escape, fly, open or close a door or a container, pick up or drop an item, run, stand up, shift, squeeze, or walk.

The summoning power determines any special commands you can give the summoned creature and gives an action type for each command. If a special command is a minor action, you can give that command only once during each of your turns.
- ◆ Attacks and Checks: If a summoning power allows the summoned creature to attack, you make an attack through the creature, as specified in the power description. If the summoned creature can make a skill check or an ability check, you make the check. Attacks and checks you make through the creature do not include temporary bonuses or penalties to your statistics.
- ◆ Duration: Unless the summoning power states otherwise, the summoned creature lasts until the end of the encounter and then disappears. As a minor action, you can dismiss the summoned creature.

WIZARDS IN THE WORLD

Fighters and wizards are both exceedingly rare in the world, but wizards are perhaps slightly more so. Common soldiers, mercenaries, and bandits aren't fighters, but fighters might emerge from among those sorts of people. It's harder to find examples of people among the mass of common folk who have the potential to rise to the status of a full-fledged wizard. You might once have been a scribe, a scholar of history or arcane lore, a priest of loun or some other deity, an herbalist, or an alchemist in your town or village. But the moment you learned your first cantrip, you were set on a path toward a greater destiny. You are far more than a scholar or a sage—you're a hero who wields the power of arcane magic, and that ability forever sets you apart from, and indeed above, the common folk of the world.

NEW BUILDS

This chapter includes two additional wizard builds to supplement those presented in the Player's Handbook: the illusionist wizard and the summoner wizard.

ILLUSIONIST WIZARD

Your mysterious powers cloud the mind and assault the senses. The imaginary landscapes and phantasmal creatures you create impede, distract, and redirect your foes. Nothing is what it seems when you're in control.

Intelligence should be your highest ability score, since it governs your attack powers. A high Charisma score lets you enhance some illusion effects. Choose powers that have the illusion keyword, and take the Orb of Deception form of Arcane Implement Mastery to get the most out of them.

Suggested Class Feature: Orb of Deception

Suggested Feat: Phantom Echoes*

Suggested Skills: Arcana, Diplomacy, Dungeoncreeing, Insight

Suggested At-Will Powers: *illusory ambush, *phantom bolt

Suggested Encounter Power: *grasping shadows

Suggested Daily Power: *horrid whispers

*New option presented in this book

SUMMONER WIZARD

Terrifying creatures obey your call, and you order them to aid you and to fight for you. In addition to binding these monsters, you are skilled at conjuring objects made of magical energy to impede or harm your foes. You must use your own actions to control your summoned monsters, so your role in combat is quite different from that of other wizards.

As with other wizards, a high Intelligence score is crucial to attack rolls and damage rolls. Your summoned creatures' hit points depend on your own, and many conjuration spells deal additional damage or have improved effects that depend on Constitution, so make that your second-highest score. Use the Tome of Binding form of Arcane Implement Mastery, since it improves your summoning spells. Select daily powers that have the summoning keyword, and encounter and at-will powers that have the conjuration keyword.

Suggested Class Feature: Tome of Binding

Suggested Feat: Careful Summoner*

Suggested Skills: Arcana, Dungeoncreeing, Insight, Nature

Suggested At-Will Powers: scorching burst, *storm pillar

Suggested Encounter Power: *astral wasp

Suggested Daily Power: *summon fire warrior

ILLUSION MAGIC

Wizards who employ illusion are masters of unreality. Their spells reach into opponents' minds to play havoc with perceptions, imposing visions of danger that are convincing enough to temporarily overwrite reality. Sometimes, even if only briefly, illusions are not entirely in the mind of the beholder. Psychic damage is the forte of illusion magic: Imaginary dangers cause harm by accelerating heart rate, impeding breathing, and sending victims into shock.

Illusion spells might convince a creature that beetles are swarming over its flesh, that a bolt of fire is on an interception course, that it is in the path of stampeding elephants, or that the floor beneath it is giving way. Such lesser effects cause their targets to dive away, fall prone, or otherwise try to evade the seeming threat.

More powerful illusions can override a target's senses. Instead of its true surroundings, a foe might witness cataclysmic visions of ruin, or a harmless vista of inanimate objects. Such extreme deceit is more difficult to pull off, but it renders a foe uniquely vulnerable as it stands by, watching imaginary visions, ignorant of its true doom.

Perception is reality, from the observer's point of view. Thus, illusion magic is ultimately about control. Although illusionist wizards choose such powers almost exclusively, control wizards often learn a few illusion powers as well.

NEW WIZARD POWERS

This section includes plenty of spells for both the illusionist wizard and the summoner wizard, as well as expanded powers suitable for the war wizard and control wizard builds.

Standard Action Ranged 10

If the target moves out of the astral wasp's square, it takes damage equal to your Constitution modifier. If the target ends its turn more than 2 squares away from the astral wasp, it takes damage equal to your Constitution modifier.

SUMMONING MAGIC

Wizards who use summoning magic can call a host of monstrosities from other locations or produce lingering effects from magical energy to harry, attack, and block their foes.

A summoner wizard might call forth an arrowhawk, a creature of elemental wind and fury, to slash at enemies throughout a battle. A snarling mastiff leaps to fasten jaws upon a foe, then returns to the wizard's side, ready to attack again upon command. Alternatively, a stolid defender appears at the wizard's side to interpose itself between its master and an enemy's attack.

Despite the name, a summoner wizard doesn't always summon creatures. His or her repertoire includes conjuration spells that manipulate magical energy: a pillar of persistent lightning in the midst of enemies, blasting those that remain too close; a pool of slippery oil bubbling up from the ground around a foe's feet; or a wall of scintillating colors that lashes nearby creatures with a variety of effects.

Summoning vs. Conjunction: Summoning spells are daily powers and produce long-lasting, physical effects in the form of creatures. Some conjunction spells (mostly at-will and encounter powers) create temporary effects that take the form of creatures. Such conjured attackers don't have hit points or act at the wizard's command, but they behave much like creatures and exert control over a specific area.

Empowering Lightning

Wizard Attack 1

Green and yellow lightning twines around your wand, then flashes toward your enemy and explodes in a shower of sparks.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Implement, Lightning
Standard Action Ranged 20

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. Reflex

Hit: 2d8 + Intelligence modifier lightning damage, and you push the target 1 square.

Wand of Accuracy: The next time you use the Wand of Accuracy class feature before the end of the encounter, you also gain a bonus to that attack's damage roll equal to your Intelligence modifier.

Grasping Shadows

At your command, shadows reach out, grab hold of your foes, and wreath the area in darkness.

Target: Each creature in burst

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 2d8 + Intelligence modifier psychic damage, and the target is slowed until the end of your next turn.

Effect: The burst creates a zone of writhing shadows that lasts until the end of your next turn. Each creature that enters the zone takes psychic damage equal to your Intelligence modifier and is slowed until the end of its next turn.

Orbmaster's Incendiary Detonation

Wizard Attack 1

Gouts of flame pulse from your orb and explode amid your enemies, setting the area alight and roasting them as they attempt to escape.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Fire, Force, Implement, Zone
Standard Action Area burst 1 within 10 squares

Attack: Intelligence vs. Reflex

Hit: 1d6 + Intelligence modifier force damage, and you knock the target prone.

Effect: The burst creates a zone of licking flames that lasts until the end of your next turn. Each enemy that enters the zone or starts its turn there takes 2 fire damage.

Orb of Imposition: You can extend the duration of this effect, even though it is not an at-will power. If you do so, the area expands to burst 3 and doesn't affect you or your allies.

Staffstrike Corrosion

Wizard Attack 1

You tap your staff on the ground, and acid boils up to envelop your target in a caustic haze.

Encounter ♦ Acid, Arcane, Implement

Miss: The target is slowed and takes a -2 penalty to attack rolls until the end of your next turn.

A WIZARD'S SPELLBOOK

How did your character acquire his or her spellbook? Did you receive formal instruction at something like a wizard academy, where you were handed a blank spellbook on the first day of school and proceeded to fill it with notes, spells, and rituals over the course of your education? Did you study with a more experienced wizard who gave you a book from her collection as a gift recognizing the completion of your study? Is your spell "book" a loose collection of notes you scrounged together as you figured out the secrets of magic in secret? Or is it a finely bound tome, carefully copied by the hand of a master scribe during the rule of one of the world's ancient empires?

What's in your spellbook aside from your spells and rituals? Does it contain a detailed history of the study of magic, penned by an archwizard of Bael Turath? A treatise on Underdark fungi and their use in arcane rituals? Scattered notes on summoning creatures, with marginal annotations in several different hands (including yours)? Or is it mostly blank pages, reflecting the fledgling state of your knowledge?

Phantom Chasm

Wizard Attack 1

You create the image of a bottomless chasm that opens beneath your foes, convincing them that they are plummeting to their deaths.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Illusion, Implement, Psychic
Standard Action Area burst 1 within 20 squares

Target: Each creature in burst

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 2d6 + Intelligence modifier psychic damage, and the target is knocked prone and immobilized until the end of its next turn.

Miss: The target is immobilized until the end of your next turn.

Rolling Thunder

Wizard Attack 1

Elemental thunder creatures tumble through your foes and knock them about.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Conjunction, Implement, Thunder
Standard Action Ranged 10

Primary Target: One or two creatures

Primary Attack: Intelligence vs. Reflex

Hit: 3d6 + Intelligence modifier thunder damage, and you slide the primary target 3 squares.

Miss: Half damage, and you slide the primary target 1 square.

Effect: You conjure a thunderball in 1 square within each primary target's space. Each thunderball lasts until the end of your next turn. Each thunderball can make a secondary attack.

Opportunity Action Melee 1

Trigger: A creature moves out of the thunderball's square

Secondary Target: The triggering creature

CASTING A SPELL

Using an arcane power—whether it's a wizard spell or a spell belonging to a different arcane class—shouldn't feel the same as using a martial or a divine power. Wizard spells in particular involve the recitation of complex arcane formulas, mystic syllables in no known language that tap into the magical power that flows through the world. You might also perform precise gestures, positioning your implement and your free hand in just the right way to shape and channel the energy you wield.

Your powers require constant study to keep those syllables fresh in your mind and ready for use, so you might spend every short rest or extended rest immersed in reviewing your spellbook, rehearsing the precise formulas in your thoughts. However, resting your mind and body is also essential for proper performance of your spells, so you might insist on taking the first or last watch of the night so you can sleep uninterrupted.

Effect: You summon a Medium diamond falcon in an unoccupied square within range. The falcon has a speed of fly 8 (hover). It has a +2 bonus to AC and a +2 bonus to Reflex. You can give the diamond falcon the following special command.

♦ Move Action: The diamond falcon can carry you or one Medium or smaller ally that is adjacent to it when the falcon begins its move. The carried creature moves with the falcon and occupies its space; if the falcon provokes opportunity attacks, the attacker can target either the falcon or the carried creature. At the end of the falcon's move, the carried creature can either remain in the falcon's space (continuing to be carried) or land in a square adjacent to the falcon. A carried creature grants combat advantage and takes a -5 penalty to attack rolls.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Conjuration, Force
Minor Action Personal

It blocks objects and creatures attempting to pass through it.

The globe, although impenetrable, is not impervious to damage. Attacks against the globe automatically hit, and it has 100 hit points.

Sustain Standard: The globe persists.

Your mastery of the arcane arts allows you to push your mind far beyond its limits, tapping into reserves of magic that allow your spells to endure.

Each can make sounds and gestures but cannot voluntarily leave its space, and each of its defenses is 10. An illusory creature or object lasts until the end of the encounter, or until an attack hits it or a creature touches it.

As a move action, you can cause as many of the illusory creatures or objects as you wish to move up to 6 squares each. Each acts as an independent entity, saying whatever you wish and reacting as you choose to other creatures. However, you must have line of effect to an illusory creature or object to control it in this way. If you do not have line of effect, it does not move or respond.

DWARF WIZARDS

Dwarves' generally high Wisdom means that those of this race who choose the wizard's path favor control and the orb of imposition form of implement mastery. A dwarf wizard's orb is often a polished piece of mineral mined from his or her mountainous home. Because dwarves value clan ties and ancestry, those who have wizards among their forebears are more likely to take up wizardry themselves.

Wizard Utility 22

A transparent barrier of force springs up where you command.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Conjuration, Force

Standard Action Area wall 12 within 20 squares

Effect: You conjure a solid, transparent wall of contiguous squares filled with magical force that lasts until the end of the encounter. The wall can be up to 6 squares high.

The wall blocks line of effect and movement. No creature can enter a square containing the wall, and phasing creatures can't move through it.

Attacks against the wall automatically hit. The wall has 200 hit points, and attacking any square deals damage to the entire wall. If it is reduced to 0 hit points, the wall shatters, dealing 3d10 force damage to each creature adjacent to it.

Staff of Defense: The next time you use the Staff of Defense class feature before the end of the encounter, the enemy whose attack you interrupted also takes 10 lightning damage, and you teleport 5 squares as a free action.

WIZARD VERSATILITY

Three factors combine to make the wizard one of the most versatile classes in the game: spellbooks, cantrips, and rituals. Unlike members of other classes, a wizard can keep a selection of daily attack powers and utility powers in a spellbook, allowing him or her to choose the right spell for the job—given some knowledge of what dangers lie ahead on a given day. (Divination rituals are a good way to get some of that knowledge!) Cantrips are minor spell effects, but incredibly flexible. Look for ways to use ghost sound, mage hand, or prestidigitation in skill challenges, roleplaying interactions, and even combat encounters to accomplish unexpected things. Finally, rituals—which any class can use, but wizards have superior access to—provide a never-ending supply of interesting, unique effects. Some wizards find that they rely on the same one or two rituals in a variety of situations, while others employ lots of different rituals and might never use the same one twice.

LEVEL 25 DAILY SPELLS

Bubbling Acid

Wizard Attack 25

You toss a green globe toward your enemies. It explodes, showering them with acid and creating a boiling pool of caustic stuff that moves at your command.

Secondary Attack: Intelligence vs. Reflex

Hit: 1d8 + Intelligence modifier fire damage, and the secondary target is blinded until the end of its next turn.

DRAGONBORN WIZARDS

With a culture that focuses on glory in battle, dragonborn do not normally turn to wizardry. Those who do take up a wizard's implement are particularly driven to learn their esoteric craft, often sacrificing personal commitments or an easy route to success in the process. Many dragonborn wizards are surprisingly adept at illusion magic.

Orbmaster's Prismatic Sphere Wizard Attack 25

Your orb swirls with a rainbow of colors that flash out and cloak your foes in a scintillating globe.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Fire, Implement, Poison

Standard Action Area burst 2 within 20 squares

Target: Each creature in burst

Attack: Intelligence vs. Fortitude, Reflex, Will

Hit (Fortitude): 3d6 + Intelligence modifier poison damage, and ongoing 10 poison damage (save ends).

Hit (Reflex): 3d6 + Intelligence modifier fire damage, and ongoing 10 fire damage (save ends).

Hit (Will): The target is dazed (save ends).

Special: You make one attack roll per target and compare that result against all three defenses. A target might be subject to any, all, or none of the consequences of a hit depending on how many of its defenses were hit. The target must roll a saving throw against each condition or instance of ongoing damage separately.

Orb of Imposition: If you impose a penalty to saving throws against this power, the penalty applies to all targets instead of just one.

Phantom Reality Wizard Attack 25

You create an intricate illusion in your enemy's mind, convincing it that friends are foes and leading it wherever you desire.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Illusion, Implement

Standard Action Ranged 20

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: The target is affected by phantom reality (save ends).

While it is affected by phantom reality, whenever the target makes a melee or ranged attack roll, you can change the target of that attack. If it makes an area attack, you choose the attack's origin square if applicable. The target cannot attack itself in this way. Also, whenever the target moves, you can slide it 4 squares after it completes its movement.

Miss: Until the end of your next turn, whenever the target makes a melee or ranged attack roll, you can change the target of that attack. If it makes an area attack, you choose the attack's origin square if applicable. The target cannot attack itself in this way.

GREAT WIZARDS OF HISTORY

Some of the greatest wizards of the past have left their mark on the study of magic in the form of spells and rituals that bear their names: Bigby (of the many hand spells), Mordenkainen, Otiluke, and Evard all have spells in the Player's Handbook and in this book that are named after them. Tenser, Leomund, and Drawmij survive in ritual names. These names have been part of the DUNGEONS & DRAGONS® game since its earliest days—largely because they were player character wizards in some of the first D&D® campaigns.

If your wizard has a bit of an egomaniacal bent (and many wizards do), you might consider appending your own name to some or all of your spells. That change might be nothing more than a reflection of your own inflated sense of self-importance, but perhaps you have researched a variation that makes Kathra's acid mire notably different from the run-of-the-mill acid mire spell described in this book.

Summon Abyssal Horde Wizard Attack 25

Three horrid creatures, little more than living toothy mouths, appear around your foes to devour them.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Implement, Summoning

Minor Action Ranged 20

Effect: You summon up to three Medium abyssal maws, each appearing in an unoccupied square within range. Each maw has a speed of 6. You can give the maws the following special commands.

♦ Standard Action: Melee 1; targets one creature; Intelligence vs. Reflex; 2d6 + Intelligence modifier damage.

♦ Opportunity Attack: Melee 1; targets one creature; Intelligence vs. Reflex; 1d6 + Intelligence modifier damage.

In addition, if an enemy adjacent to the maw makes a melee attack that does not include the maw as a target, the maw makes an opportunity attack against that enemy after the enemy's attack is resolved.

Special: Whenever you use a standard action or a minor action to issue a command, all the summoned maws take that action. Only one maw within range of a target can make an opportunity attack against that target. You do not lose a healing surge until all the maws summoned by this power are reduced to 0 hit points or fewer.

TIEFLING WIZARDS

Tieflings who have a talent for the arcane often yield to the example of their ancestors and choose to be warlocks. However, they make fine wizards, too; their superior Intelligence makes them the equal of eladrin mages (although most eladrin are unwilling to admit this truth). Tieflings are generally more likely to become war wizards than to concern themselves with the subtleties of illusion or control. Many of those who do take up illusion magic (and the orb of deception form of implement mastery) are formidable masters of their craft.

ARCANE WAYFARER

"Distance is an illusion, a construction of the mind shackled to the physical world."

Prerequisite: Wizard

Time and space are barriers to most creatures. Only gods, primordials, and legendary beings can break down those barriers. And—perhaps—people like you.

You have already learned several powers that allow you to instantaneously travel between two nearby points. But now, as an arcane wayfarer, you see more clearly into the mechanism behind teleportation. As your knowledge grows, you teleport as naturally and easily as you walk, moving from spot to spot by flexing your mind instead of your muscles. You don't restrict this knowledge to yourself; you also enjoy targeting others with spatial effects, sending friends to safety and transporting foes into dangerous locations.

Although time yet remains beyond your grasp, you know that space is not insurmountable, as most believe it to be. Indeed, sometimes the shortest distance between two locations is not a straight line.

ARCANE WAYFARER PATH FEATURES

Blink Strike (11th level): Whenever you score a critical hit with a wizard attack power, you can also teleport the target 4 squares.

Wayfarer's Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you can also teleport 4 squares as a free action.

Wayfarer's Step (16th level): You gain teleport 2 as an additional movement mode.

ARCANE WAYFARER SPELLS

Standard Action Area burst 1 within 20 squares

Target: Each creature in burst

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 3d6 + Intelligence modifier damage, and the target is teleported to an interplanar space (save ends). While in the interplanar space, the target cannot take actions and cannot be targeted. On a save, it returns to the space it was last in. If that space is occupied, the target returns to the nearest unoccupied space of its choice.

Miss: Half damage, and the creature is dazed (save ends).

BONDED SUMMONER

"To me, my servants! You shall share in my strength and in my victory."

Prerequisite: Wizard

You are fascinated by the magic of summoning and conjuration. The power of the planes draws you almost as strongly as your own arcane strength pulls the creatures you call to your side. You form a stronger link than others with the creatures you summon, granting you increased control over them. This closer communication even allows you to manipulate the boundaries between planes. You are a beneficent master, though, and you imbue your summoned servants with greater vitality—in exchange for even more dedicated service.

BONDED SUMMONER PATH FEATURES

Summoner's Slip (11th level): Whenever you use an arcane power that has the conjuration or summoning keyword, you can teleport 2 squares as a free action after using the power.

Summoner's Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, as a free action you can issue one minor action command to each of your summoned creatures.

Summoner's Might (16th level): Creatures you summon gain regeneration 10.

♦ Minor Action: You and the bonded protector swap positions.

HERMETIC SABOTEUR

"Drive them into the alcove. I've arranged a little welcome for them there."

Prerequisite: Wizard

Few things please you more than creating nasty magical surprises for your foes. Although your traps are illusory, they are no less deadly to foes who stumble into them. As well, you love to add your own arcane flourishes to mundane traps, catching enemies off guard when they believed themselves safe. Admittedly, you might take unseemly glee in your phantasmal pyrotechnics. But wreaking havoc is so much fun!

Still, you must not incur your companions' wrath by scattering such deadly tricks too liberally, or putting them where they could be triggered by accident. So you are careful... as careful as a saboteur can be.

HERMETIC SABOTEUR PATH FEATURES

Attune Target (11th level): Once per encounter, when you use a wizard power that is a blast, a burst, or a wall, you can choose one square within 20 squares of you as that power's origin square instead of its normal origin square.

Saboteur's Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to use an area or close wizard attack power, all targets of that power grant combat advantage to you until the end of your next turn.

Adjust Attunement (16th level): All targets of attack powers affected by your Attune Target path feature grant combat advantage to you until the end of your next turn, regardless of whether those targets were hit or missed by your attacks.

HERMETIC SABOTEUR SPELLS

Psychic Detonations Hermetic Saboteur Attack 11

You tap on the floor, and three illusory traps are set under the feet of your enemies.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Illusion, Implement, Psychic
Standard Action Ranged 10

Effect: You bring into being three illusory traps in three separate squares that last until the end of your next turn. Each trap can make the following attack the first time it is triggered.

Opportunity Action Close burst 1

Trigger: A creature starts its turn in or moves adjacent to a square containing a trap

Target: The triggering creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 2d6 + Intelligence modifier psychic damage, and the target is knocked prone.

Special: Triggering this attack is considered triggering a trap for the purpose of your sabotage trap power.

Sabotage Trap

Hermetic Saboteur Utility 12

Sometimes the wrong person triggers the trap. Fortunately, you have an answer for that.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Teleportation

Immediate Interrupt Ranged 10

Trigger: A creature triggers a trap within range

Primary Target: The triggering creature

Secondary Target: A different creature within 10 squares of the primary target

Effect: The primary target and secondary targets swap positions, and the secondary target is considered to have triggered the trap. If the secondary target is you or an ally, he or she gains a +4 bonus to all defenses against that trap's attacks until the end of the secondary target's next turn.

Saboteur's Ward

Hermetic Saboteur Attack 20

You have a punishing response to those who are foolish enough to attack you.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Implement, Psychic, Zone

Standard Action Close burst 10

Effect: The burst creates a zone of warding magic that lasts until the end of your next turn. You can make the following attack, using a square within the zone as the origin square.

Opportunity Action Close burst 10

Trigger: A creature in burst makes an attack roll against you

Target: The triggering creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 2d6 + Intelligence modifier psychic damage.

Effect: The target is dazed (save ends).

Special: Triggering this attack is considered triggering a trap for the purpose of your sabotage trap power.

Sustain Minor: The zone persists. When you move, the zone moves with you, remaining centered on you, unless you used your Attune Target path feature to change the origin square of the burst. In that case, you can move the zone 5 squares as a move action.

RIMETONGUE CALLER

"It takes a cold heart to wield such power."

Prerequisites: Wizard, Primordial language

Summoned creatures can always be improved upon. Other arcane paths, such as the bonded summoner, deal with infusing magical energy into summoning spells to create a more perfect arcane cohort, but your way seeks the mastery of elemental cold. Using Primordial words of power, you have learned to enhance each summoned servitor with the essence of primordial ice.

This influx of wintery power is not confined to just those creatures you summon; it has also transformed your nature into something more elemental. You have adopted the innate abilities and resistance of primordial cold. Your skin, as well as the outward appearance of your summoned creatures, takes on an ice-blue pallor, and your hair becomes a shock of snow-white strands. Even your arcane flames burn with a rimefire blue color.

RIMETONGUE CALLER PATH FEATURES

Winter's Embrace (11th level): You and your summoned creatures gain resist 3 cold; any existing resistance to cold instead increases by 3. This resistance stacks with other resistance to cold granted by powers or effects.

At 21st level, this resistance improves to 5 (or increases by 5).

Blizzard's Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, each enemy adjacent to you takes 5 cold damage and is slowed until the end of your next turn.

At 21st level, the cold damage increases to 10.

Frostbite Summoning (16th level): Creatures you summon gain the frostbite aura, described below.

Frostbite (Cold) aura 1: each creature that ends its turn within the aura takes 10 cold damage.

RIMETONGUE CALLER SPELLS

Wall of Winter Rimetongue Caller Attack 11

Issuing words of Primordial from frost-covered lips, you conjure an unstable wall of elemental ice and wind.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Cold, Conjunction, Implement
Standard Action Area wall 5 within 20 squares
Effect: You conjure a wall of contiguous squares filled with frost and raging wind that lasts until the end of your next turn. The wall can be up to 4 squares high.

Each creature that starts its turn adjacent to the wall takes 1d8 + your Intelligence modifier cold damage. If a creature moves into the wall's space or starts its turn there, it takes 2d8 + your Intelligence modifier cold damage, and it is slowed (save ends). Entering a square occupied by the wall costs 1 extra square of movement. The squares occupied by the wall are heavily obscured, and the wall blocks line of sight.

Icy Calling Rimetongue Caller Utility 12

You infuse your summoning with the essence of an ice mote of the Primordial Chaos.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Cold
Free Action Personal
Effect: The next creature you summon before the end of your turn is immune to cold and deals 1d6 extra cold damage with each attack.

Summon Rimetongue Caller Attack 20 Rimefire Brute

A giant of carved ice and frostfire strides from an elemental gateway, and your enemies tremble with cold and fear.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Cold, Implement, Summoning
Minor Action Ranged 20
Effect: You summon a Large rimefire brute in an unoccupied 2-square-by-2-square space within range. The rimefire brute has reach 2 and a speed of 5. It has a +2 bonus to AC and a +4 bonus to Fortitude. You can give the rimefire brute the following special commands.
♦ Standard Action: Reach 2; targets one creature; Intelligence vs. AC; 2d10 + Intelligence modifier cold damage, and the target is knocked prone.
♦ Standard Action (1/encounter): Close blast 3; targets each creature in blast; Intelligence vs. Fortitude; 2d8 + Intelligence modifier cold damage, and the target is immobilized (save ends).
♦ Opportunity Attack: Intelligence vs. AC; 2d10 + Intelligence modifier cold damage.
Special: The frostbite aura of a rimefire brute you summon has a range of 2 squares instead of 1.

UNSEEN MAGE

"Have you ever met someone who wasn't there?"

Prerequisite: Wizard

To see but go unseen, to affect the world but remain unaffected by it—this ability is at the heart of true magical power. Thus you have devoted yourself to the art of invisibility, rendering your body as transparent as a window without smear or blemish, through which no hint of your presence can be detected. You are an unseen mage; there is no stopping you. Or, more important, seeing you.

Since you can vanish with great alacrity and facility, you must learn to watch your step to avoid being trampled by your own allies. Even walking invisibly in the street requires constant vigilance, lest some carriage or palanquin unknowingly run you down. And with such great power comes the potential for abuse, against which you must be vigilant.

UNSEEN MAGE PATH FEATURES

Enhanced Invisibility (11th level): Whenever you use an arcane power that turns you invisible, roll a d20 at the end of the invisibility's duration. On a roll of 10 or higher, you instead remain invisible until the end of your next turn or until you make an attack roll.

Unseen Action (11th level): When you use an action point to take an extra action, you become invisible until the end of your next turn.

Unseen Advantage (16th level): Whenever you use an arcane attack power and hit a target that cannot see you, you deal 1d6 extra damage to the target.

UNSEEN MAGE SPELLS

Vanishing Act

Unseen Mage Attack 11

You strike, and in the wink of an eye, are gone.

Standard Action Ranged 10

Target: One creature

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 3d6 + Intelligence modifier psychic damage.

Effect: You become invisible until the start of your next turn.

Guillaume's Veil

Unseen Mage Utility 12

You make a series of mystical passes, and you and your companions fade from view.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Illusion, Zone

Minor Action Close burst 2

Target: You and each ally in burst

Effect: The target gains invisibility until the end of your next turn or until he or she hits or misses with an attack.

The burst creates a zone of invisibility that lasts until the end of your next turn. Whenever you or an ally ends his or her turn within the zone, that individual becomes invisible until the end of his or her next turn or until he or she hits or misses with an attack.

Sustain Minor: The zone persists. As a move action, you can move the zone 4 squares.

Vanishing Legion

Unseen Mage Attack 20

You sweep your hands and lash your enemies with a devastating attack, then collect its residual energy to cloak your allies.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Illusion, Implement, Psychic

Standard Action Area burst 1 within 10 squares

Target: Each creature in burst

Attack: Intelligence vs. Will

Hit: 3d10 + Intelligence modifier psychic damage.

Miss: Half damage.

Effect: You and your allies within 10 squares become invisible to the target (save ends).

GUILLAUME THE UNSEEN

Archmages are rare wonders of the wizardly profession; few mortals have both the drive and the luck to reach the heights of arcane spellcraft. And only one, Guillaume the Unseen, was so fascinated by the concept of invisibility that he retired to his sanctum sanctorum at the end of a long and storied career to focus on that type of magic. The fruit of his study sometimes makes its way into the world in the form of seemingly blank parchments bearing the Guillaume crest. Legends say that those who can reveal the pages' hidden messages can learn great secrets about invisibility.

WEAVER OF CHANCE

"There is no great design or higher purpose. All is happenstance."

Prerequisite: Wizard

You appreciate the cosmos for what it is: a senseless place where mad gods play, primordials cavort, and wizards can make their mark. You understand that the world and its echo planes are not the result of deliberate design but of uncounted eons of slow iteration.

In a universe where gods control the fate of souls, weave the threads of destiny, and embody overarching principles, few find your philosophy reasonable. Some might even think you mad. But you have no illusions about ultimate meaning or purpose. If anything, your morality is purer: You perform acts of goodness not because you follow a code or seek some greater purpose, but because you choose to do so.

WEAVER OF CHANCE PATH FEATURES

Channel Entropy (11th level): You can store and channel the entropic flux that surrounds you. This barely controlled chaos is represented by a pool of entropy points. Your pool has 0 entropy points at the end of a short rest or an extended rest. Whenever you roll a natural 20 on any d20 roll, you add 1 entropy point to this pool. Whenever you roll a natural 1 on any d20 roll, you subtract 1 entropy point from the pool (to a minimum of 0).

JASON ERGLE

Once per round, when you roll a d20 and dislike the result, you can spend any number of entropy points from your pool to gain a bonus to that roll of +1 per point spent. If you have spent entropy points since the start of your turn, you cannot spend more until the start of your next turn.

Entropic Action (11th level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you can roll a d6. If the roll is an even number, you add that many entropy points to your pool and teleport that many squares. If the roll is an odd number, you subtract that many entropy points from your pool (to a minimum of 0) and teleport an enemy within 5 squares of you that many squares.

Play the Odds (16th level): Once per encounter as a free action, before you make an attack roll using an arcane attack power, you can roll a d6 and add the result to that attack roll. If the attack hits, it deals 2d6 extra damage and you add entropy points to your pool equal to the d6 roll. If it misses, you take 2d6 + your Intelligence modifier damage, and you subtract entropy points from your pool equal to the d6 roll.

WEAVER OF CHANCE SPELLS

Entropic Reshuffling Weaver of Chance Attack 11

You distort probability with ripples of randomness that flow through your enemies, causing them to behave unpredictably.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Implement
Standard Action Close blast 5
Target: Each creature in blast
Attack: Intelligence vs. Will
Hit: 3d6 + Intelligence modifier damage. If you rolled an even number on the attack roll, you slide the target 3 squares. If you rolled an odd number on the attack roll, you push the target 3 squares.

Agency of Chance Weaver of Chance Utility 12

You are shrouded by the essence of chance, which distorts every spell you cast.

Encounter ♦ Arcane
Minor Action Personal
Effect: Until the end of your next turn, you add 1 entropy point to your pool whenever you roll a natural 10 or higher on a d20, and you subtract 1 entropy point from your pool whenever you roll a natural 9 or lower on a d20.

Random Spell Weaver of Chance Attack 20

You tap into the random forces of the cosmos to make something happen. What that might be, not even you know.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Implement; Varies
Minor Action Personal
Effect: You gain a single use of one of the following wizard powers. Roll a d6 to determine the power from the list below. Alternatively, you can spend 2 entropy points to choose one of the powers on the list. You must use the power before the end of the encounter, or it is lost.

1-Prismatic beams	4-Disintegrate
2-Acid wave	5-Evard's black tentacles
3-Cloudkill	6-Prismatic spray

ARCANE OPTIONS

IN THE DUNGEONS & DRAGONS game, more options mean more fun. This chapter focuses on expanding the choices that allow you to customize your arcane character. With few exceptions (such as the multiclass feats), the options here are solely for such PCs.

Many characters of an arcane bent are especially fond of collecting rituals, whether in books or on scrolls, to expand their magical repertoire. And like any other character, your arcane character is likely interested in discovering new feats. What arcane character won't at least consider the idea of having a familiar, a magical entity to serve as one's faithful friend? Last but not least, every character who survives long enough might eventually gravitate to a special destiny, perhaps one of epic proportions.

This chapter includes the following material.

- ◆ New Feats: A feat improves an ability, power, feature, or trait you already have, and a few provide abilities that are characteristic of other classes.
- ◆ Familiars: A familiar is a spirit you have allied with and become the master of. All familiars possess some amount of arcane knowledge.
- ◆ Epic Destinies: An epic destiny isn't merely about acquiring even more power. It is more about defining your place in the universe. This chapter offers several more epic destinies for your arcane character to choose from.
- ◆ Tomes: A tome is a thick book packed with arcane knowledge about the casting of spells. Some classes can use tomes as implements.
- ◆ Rituals: Complex ceremonies that create magical effects not designed for combat, rituals can be performed by a wide variety of classes. However, the rituals described in this book are best suited to arcane characters. The Player's Handbook covers the basics of ritual casting; the rituals described in this chapter further expand your capabilities.
- ◆ Arcane Backgrounds: This section provides several brief character backgrounds you can use or adapt to your own arcane character.

Feats offer a remarkable opportunity to customize your character. These feats focus on arcane activity and providing interesting options for arcane characters.

You must meet a feat's prerequisites, if any, to take the feat. If you ever lose a prerequisite for a feat (for example, if you use the retraining system to replace training in a prerequisite skill with training in a different skill), you can't use that feat thereafter. A feat that has a class as a prerequisite is available only to members of that class, including characters who have joined the class through a class-specific multiclass feat.

FAMILIAR FEATS

Familiar feats give arcane characters the ability to gain a special type of spirit companion that accompanies them as a friend and cohort. Some of these feats have powers associated with them, which follow the feat description. The complete rules for familiars and the associated feats are found beginning on page 137.

HEROIC TIER FEATS

Any feat in this section is available to a character of any level who meets the prerequisites. Heroic tier feats and multiclass feats are the only feats you can take if you are 10th level or lower.

ACCURSED COORDINATION

ARCANE IMPLEMENT PROFICIENCY

Prerequisite: Any arcane class

Benefit: Choose a kind of implement associated with any arcane class other than your own. You can use that kind of implement with your arcane powers.

If that implement is also a weapon, you do not add the weapon's proficiency bonus to attack rolls made while you wield it as an implement.

ARCANE RESERVES

Prerequisite: Human, any arcane class

Benefit: If all your arcane encounter attack powers are expended, you gain a +2 bonus to damage rolls with your arcane at-will attack powers until the end of the encounter or until you regain the use of one of your arcane encounter attack powers.

ELADRIN SWORD WIZARDRY

Prerequisite: Dex 13, eladrin, wizard

Benefit: You can wield a longsword as an implement when using wizard powers. Your longsword adds its enhancement bonus to attack rolls and damage rolls and any extra damage granted by a property (if applicable) when used as an implement. You do not gain your weapon proficiency bonus to the attack roll when you use your longsword as an implement.

If you have any feats or class features that apply a benefit when you wield a wand, you can also apply these benefits when you wield a longsword. If such benefits apply to attacks, they apply only when you use the longsword as an implement for a wizard attack power.

RISKY AEGIS

Prerequisite: Human, swordmage, Swordmage Aegis class feature

Benefit: The first time you become bloodied during an encounter, you gain a +1 bonus to Fortitude, Reflex, and Will until the end of the encounter.

A familiar is a spirit that accompanies you as your friend and ally. It's not a real creature, and it doesn't need to eat or breathe. The most common type is a creature familiar—a spirit that takes the form of a little animal or monster.

Many consider a familiar and its master to be one and the same, and some familiars do act as mere extensions of their masters' wills. However, most familiars grow personalities all their own, and undertake the commands of their masters with individuality and, sometimes, attitude. All familiars have some amount of arcane knowledge.

GAINING A FAMILIAR

- ◆ You gain a familiar when you take the Arcane Familiar feat.

CHANGING YOUR FAMILIAR

- ◆ You gain a different familiar by retraining the Arcane Familiar feat and replacing your former companion with a different kind of familiar.

FAMILIAR ATTRIBUTES

- ◆ Attacks: A familiar can't attack.
- ◆ Defenses: A familiar uses your defenses.
- ◆ Skills and Checks: A familiar uses your bonuses for all skill checks and ability checks.
- ◆ Hit Points: A familiar has 1 hit point, but a missed attack never damages it.
- ◆ Destruction of a Familiar: If your familiar is reduced to 0 hit points or fewer, it is destroyed. After your next short rest or extended rest, it reappears in passive mode in your space.

HOW DO FAMILIARS WORK?

The Arcane Familiar feat (see page 139) lets you choose a familiar. You can determine how your familiar looks, and suggest to your DM what sort of personality it has.

Familiars have two modes: active and passive. Both modes give you constant benefits, but you lose them if your familiar is destroyed. You can keep your familiar in passive mode to protect it. In active mode, your familiar can scout ahead or grant you special abilities described in its statistics block. You can control a familiar when it's in active mode by using your actions, but a familiar isn't a combatant. It can't attack on its own, and it vanishes for a while when it is destroyed.

- ◆ Death of a Familiar: Your familiar dies when you die, and it is restored to life when you are restored to life. After you are restored to life, your familiar reappears in passive mode in your space.
- ◆ Immunity: A familiar can't be hit by its master's attacks. You, as the master, can choose to ignore this benefit.
- ◆ Senses: Some familiars have special senses, such as blindsight or low-light vision. These apply to your familiar, not you.
- ◆ Communication: You and your familiar can speak to one another in a special arcane language. Other creatures hear only gibberish from you, and grunts and squeaks from your familiar. Your familiar doesn't understand other languages, but can parrot back what it hears, allowing you to understand anything it repeats back to you in a language you know.
- ◆ Size: Tiny.
- ◆ No Flanking: A familiar can't flank.
- ◆ Objects: Unless otherwise noted, a familiar cannot pick up or manipulate objects. This does not mean it ignores solid objects. It cannot walk through walls.

FAMILIAR MODES

- ◆ Switching Modes: You can switch your familiar between passive mode and active mode by using a minor action.
- ◆ Passive: A passive familiar is on your person, perching on your shoulder or hiding in your pocket. In this mode, it shares your space.
 - No Targeting:* A passive familiar can't be targeted by any effect.
 - No Damage:* A passive familiar cannot be damaged by any effect.
- ◆ Active: In its active mode, a familiar is not on your person, and you can move it around. It takes up the space of a Tiny creature.
 - Movement:* A familiar has a speed and movement modes. By using a move action, you can move your familiar its speed.
 - Range Limit:* Unless otherwise noted, a familiar can't move more than 20 squares away from you. If, at the end of your turn, your familiar is more than 20 squares away, it teleports into your square and enters passive mode.
 - Actions:* A familiar can use skills and take actions as normal, but you must use the relevant action to order it to do so. Your familiar does not have its own set of actions to use.

PERSONALITY

Every familiar has an individual personality, despite the fact that it is a spirit and not a physical entity. A familiar tends to act in a way that reflects its master's personality. A power-hungry warlock's rat familiar might constantly seek out food to nibble on, while a secretive wizard might have a book imp that hides within the folds of his robes, its red eyes glowing from the shadows.

You might decide that your familiar's personality is simple and acquiescing, which makes it a perfectly trained servant. On the other hand, familiars that show a little initiative might also have an individualistic streak that makes them reluctant to follow all your commands, or at least reluctant to do so immediately if they believe they know better.

Although primarily a devoted servant, a familiar is an independent creature that can argue with its master, push for its own plans, and offer advice (whether or not it is needed or wanted). In the end, though, a familiar always obeys its master.

Your familiar's personality is ultimately up to you, since it is an extension of your character. Your DM might have some advice or suggestions, and he or she also has the authority to occasionally take the reins, describing what your familiar says and does when it disagrees with you.

A classic familiar personality, especially for a creature such as a dragonling or a book imp, is a superior "I know better than you" attitude that can generate interesting, unexpected ideas when one of these incorrigible creatures devises its own plans.

ROLEPLAYING YOUR FAMILIAR

Your DM might maintain some light touch of control over how your familiar acts, or might allow you to completely control it. However, since your familiar can communicate only with you (see "Communication," above), roleplaying your familiar's verbal skill to vex and delight others is not an option. On the other hand, having your familiar act or move in certain reactive ways gets across an idea you want the familiar to communicate just as effectively as the spoken word. However, limit the amount of time that you take up at the table during combat encounters describing the antics of your familiar. Other players might grow frustrated at the amount of time your character (and familiar) takes each time it is your turn.

CUSTOMIZING FAMILIAR APPEARANCE

Several different familiars are described in this section. Each one has a basic look, but that doesn't mean your familiar has to look like every other spellcaster's familiar, even if you choose something as common as a raven or a cat.

Within the realm of reason, you can customize your familiar to look like nearly anything, as long as the identity of the basic creature isn't lost. Your ability to customize your familiar's look and quirks is vast, but it can't change the familiar's combat ability or skill checks.

Just as you have the ability to customize how your familiar looks when it is active, you can also determine what happens when your familiar enters passive mode. It could do something more spectacular than simply climbing into a pouch.

For instance, perhaps your book imp incorporeates into a puff of smoke and returns to apparent existence at the sound of its name. Your owl could become a small stone statue you carry with you, only to return to apparent flesh when you toss it to the ground. Imagine how you could impress your fellow adventurers if the tattoo on your arm suddenly unwound itself to become your serpent familiar. Or perhaps when you whistle, your falcon familiar flies down from an unseen height.

Each familiar description includes the benefits a familiar provides.

Constant Benefits: A familiar provides you with these benefits as long it has at least 1 hit point, regardless of its current state.

Your epic destiny is the mythic archetype you aspire to achieve. Once you reach 21st level, the greatness you knew you were destined for is no longer theoretical, but within your reach.

ARCANE SWORD

Spells of destruction infuse your blade, and no enemy can stand in your way.

Prerequisites: 21st level, swordmage

Barriers of shimmering arcane incantations sheathe your body, deflecting and dissipating your enemies' attacks. The sword in your hand has become an extension of your will, a magical limb suffused with the combined art of spell and swordcraft. Eldritch power reverberates between you and your sword, creating an arcane conduit that promises nothing but destruction for any who stand in your way. You are a swordmage, and your goal is nothing less than perfection.

You have become the utmost practitioner of your art; it has been long since you've sought others to teach you their secrets. You have become your own teacher, and your ceaseless study into the dual arts of blade and magic has yielded a bounty of techniques that combine martial skill with magical prowess.

Others believe that you apply your incredible and growing skill to achieve ends important to you. That is true, to a point. In fact, you take up epic quests and engage terrible foes in order to improve your art. Your ambition transcends other concerns, but also uses them as a foil. You might save the world, but in doing so, you seek to become the ultimate swordmage, an Arcane Sword.

IMMORTALITY?

Arcane Swords all hunger to improve their skill, but even these perfectionists one day recognize when they have reached the height of their art. Different Arcane Swords follow different routes to immortality; one of these might be your path.

Martial Seclusion: When you complete your final quest, you sequester yourself in a place where few are likely to find you. Here you create your own private sanctum, a place of peace where you can train day and night, eventually becoming one with your blade and your magic.

Dojo Master: When you complete your final quest, you might decide to teach others something of what you have learned. Instead of a private sanctum, you create a school where you teach the best swordmages of a generation the secrets of your craft.

Relic Sword: A few stories relate how some Arcane Swords meld into and become one and the same as their sword, creating a named artifact that persists in the world through all its future ages.

ARCANE SWORD FEATURES

Spellsword Recall (21st level): When you spend an action point to take an extra action, you regain one of your expended swordmage encounter attack powers before using that action.

Sword's Vengeance (24th level): Once per day, when you die, your sword fights on in your stead until the end of the encounter. Each round, the sword can move and make attacks as if you were still wielding it, but it cannot be the target of any attack.

At the end of the encounter, after a short rest, the sword returns to your body, and if your body is still present, you return to life with 1 hit point.

If your body is missing, you will need other magic to return to life.

Spellsword Perfection (30th level): Choose one swordmage encounter attack power that you know. You can now use that power as an at-will power rather than an encounter power.

ARCANE SWORD POWER

Mass Aegis

Arcane Sword Utility 26

You unleash a frenzy of strikes, slicing all around you with your blade. Your attacks trail a blaze of magic, marking all enemies that stand too near.

Encounter ♦ Arcane

Minor Action Close burst 2

Target: Each enemy in burst

Effect: Each target is marked by your Swordmage Aegis power until the end of your next turn.

ARCHLICH

You fail to remain living, but also fail to die. Undead, you ensure your ability to defend against evil forever.

Prerequisites: 21st level, any arcane class

You pursue eternal life as an undead creature. Most wizards who search for and achieve easy immortality by way of esoteric necromantic texts are evil, avaricious spellcasters who stop at nothing to achieve their ultimate goals. For some, that goal is lichdom itself. But you have a greater, nobler purpose.

Unlike many who have become lichs before you, you have trained your mind to avoid succumbing to the madness that necromantic preservation often brings. For instance, you did not perform the foul ritual that traded your life for animation the moment you found it; you waited until your power was equal to the change. Nor did you accept the aid of Orcus, Demon Prince of the Undead, to empower the ritual, but you waited to find methods outside his control. In doing so, you escaped his touch, though you bear his personal enmity to this day.

IMMORTALITY?

When you complete your final quest, an age of the world concludes. It is time to make way for new heroes. However, you do not go too far.

You watch the world and all that goes on upon it by means of a cadre of spies and magical sensors. You reside in a secluded citadel deep underground or in a far corner of one of the planes. You are content to let the events of the world roll on, watching; however, you are not completely indifferent. Now and then, you can provide a clue to help those in need.

ARCHLICH FEATURES

Archlich Knowledge (21st level): Your Intelligence score increases by 2.

Archlich's Phylactery (21st level): You create a magical receptacle that contains your life force. When you drop to 0 hit points or fewer, you and your possessions crumble to dust. A day later, you reappear alive with maximum hit points in a space adjacent to your phylactery, with all your possessions.

Your phylactery can be destroyed. It has 40 hit points and resist 20 to all damage. The typical phylactery is a sealed metal box filled with parchment inscribed with magical phrases written in your blood. Phylacteries can come in other forms, such as rings, gems, or amulets, but they always have 40 hit points and resist 20 to all damage. If your phylactery is destroyed, you can make a new one by spending 10 days and 50,000 gp.

Shroud of Life and Death (21st level): Any living enemy that comes within 3 squares of you or starts its turn there takes 5 necrotic damage. Any undead enemy that comes within 3 squares of you or starts its turn there takes 5 radiant damage.

Lich Resistances (21st level): You gain resist necrotic and resist poison equal to 5 + one-half your level.

Mastery over Death (24th level): Once per day, when you die, you can empower your undead form instead of dying. You regain hit points equal to half your maximum hit points. Until the end of the encounter, you can't spend healing surges, and any creature that attacks you and deals damage takes ongoing 20 necrotic damage (save ends).

Essence of Undeath (30th level): Whenever an enemy within 5 squares of you is reduced to 0 hit points or fewer, you regain the use of an expended arcane encounter power.

ARCHLICH POWER

Archlich Potency

Archlich Utility 26

Fell spells resonate more fluidly within your animated mind.

Daily ♦ Arcane

Minor Action

Personal

Effect: You regain one arcane fear or necrotic encounter or daily power that you have already used.

You gain resistance to all damage equal to 5 + one-half your level until the end of the encounter.

ARCHSPELL

Prerequisites: 21st level, any arcane class

In your expert opinion, of all the varied spells that have passed the lips of casters down the ages, there is one whose elegance, power, and conceptual fundamental beauty surpasses all others. You should know, because you have endured much to master it. You refer to this spell of spells (with some pride) as your "signature spell."

Other arcane characters might cast the same spell, but your study of it, with an attention to detail none could ever hope to match, has unlocked intricacies of the power that have been lost on all others. Of course, it would be impossible to research every spell in your arsenal with such exacting care. There is not time enough in any one life for such a project. That's why you have chosen just one spell to devote yourself to entirely. A single spell, one which no other creature will ever cast as magnificently as you cast it.

Sometimes you take pity on others you happen to encounter that also cast your signature spell. You might approach these unenlightened mages and offer them encouragement, and explain to them that one day they might be great, but only if they improve their technique with the spell in question. If they show interest, you are more than happy to demonstrate your skill with your spell.

As you progress in power and mastery, your reputation as a connoisseur of your signature spell also grows. In fact, your name begins to become synonymous with the spell. You can hardly imagine anything more satisfying: With every casting, your name, too, is spoken aloud.

IMMORTALITY?

Upon completion of your final quest, you gain a final insight into the elegant complexity that lives within your spell. Having cast it so many times, you awaken a resonance between it and your own soul.

Once you put your mortal affairs in order, you embrace that resonance. One last time, you cast your signature spell. As the final syllable leaves your lips, the casting infuses every fiber of your being. You and your spell become one and the same. As long as anyone else knows your spell, you persist in that caster's living mind and in the dusty texts of old tomes, encoded in the spell's formula. Perhaps one day when some special mage rediscovers and casts the spell, you will return in physical form, ready to help the world again with a mastery only you can provide.

ARCHSPELL FEATURES

Archspells gain many benefits based around a single power chosen with the Signature Spell feature.

Signature Spell (21st level): Choose one of your arcane daily attack powers. You gain a +2 bonus to attack rolls with that power. If you refrain that power, you can choose a new arcane daily attack power as your Signature Spell.

Returning Spell (24th level): Once per day, when you die, you regain half your hit points on your next turn. If you have already expended your Signature Spell daily attack power, you regain it.

Living Spell (30th level): You can use your Signature Spell as an encounter power rather than a daily power.

ARCHSPELL POWER

Channel the Signature

Archspell Utility 26

You bring the power of your signature spell to your lips, but rather than casting it, you hold it resonating in your mind. Until you cast it, you siphon energy to resist the attacks of others.

Encounter ♦ Arcane

Minor Action

Personal

Effect: You gain resist 15 to all damage until the end of the encounter or until you use your Signature Spell.

FEYLIEGE

You command legions of powerful eladrin, tapping into the magical potential of the Feywild.

Prerequisites: 21st level; any arcane class; must have the fey origin, be a half-elf, or be a warlock with the fey pact

Your mastery over the mystical arts that twine through the Feywild has earned you the respect of eladrin and other noble fey creatures. You are seen as a great leader in the sometimes fanciful, wondrous echo of the world. Where castles of eladrin nobles raise their gleaming spires, your name has been bandied about as a potential lord of great power. Where shadowed hillocks cover twilight tunnels into the brooding Feydark, your name is also whispered, but as a curse.

As a lord of the Feywild, you are sometimes called upon to use your power to defend the interests of the faerie realm. However, your interests are wider still, and you often use your knowledge and ties to aid you in your own quests and errands. Sometimes, a future version of yourself steps back through the world lines to offer aid, and in so doing provide a glimpse of what one day might be in a fey echo of reality.

IMMORTALITY?

Upon completion of your final quest, you retreat to the Feywild for good, but your coming is foretold. Indeed, the Court of Stars, that storied city that crowns the Feywild's heart, has sent envoys, invitations, and inquiries regarding your bloodline. There are intimations that you might be, in truth, of the lineage of Lord Oran or Queen Tiandra.

You have a choice before you. You could find a secluded spot and build a towering edifice among the trees, then live out a peaceful life in the mists and shadows behind the world. You could take the guise of a simple traveler, passing from settlement to settlement in the Feywild and in the natural world, appearing as an itinerant elderly nomad, but one capable of dispensing great wisdom. Or, you could accept your destiny and the summons from the Feywild's heart, and take a seat of wisdom and power in the Court of Stars, a seat that will someday be the one that overlooks all others.

FEYLIEGE FEATURES

Feywild Charm (21st level): Your Charisma score increases by 2.

Eternal King on an Eternal Throne (24th level): Once per day, when you die, an older, more regal version of yourself steps from the mists of time to take your place. You heal to half your maximum hit points and gain concealment against all attacks until the end of the encounter. If you die while in the form of your future self, you're dead.

At the end of the encounter, your future self restores you to life if your body is still present. Your current hit point total is unchanged, and you no longer have concealment.

If your body is missing, you will need other magic to return to life, but you can continue adventuring as your future self if you would like to do so.

Dominion over the Mind (30th level): Whenever you use an arcane charm power and score a critical hit against an enemy, that enemy is dominated until the end of your next turn.

FEYLIEGE POWER

Shields of the Eladrin Host

Feyliege Utility 26

Spectral eladrin knights spring from all sides, protecting you and your allies from danger, transporting all of you to safety, and then disappear back into the Feywild.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Teleportation

Immediate Interrupt Close burst 5

Trigger: An attack hits you or an ally within 5 squares of you
Target: You and each ally in burst

Effect: Each target gains a +4 bonus to AC and Reflex until the end of his or her next turn. After the triggering attack is resolved, any target can swap positions with another target.

IMMANENCE

All life is energy. You can see the flows and associations where others see only inanimate matter.

Prerequisites: 21st level, any arcane class

Magic is less complex than most believe it to be. Beneath the incantations, the beautifully fashioned implements, the intricately carved circles and sigils, and the lore scribbled in tomes unnumbered lies one simple truth: Everything is energy. Energy comes in many forms, but once the first fundamental truth is grasped, all later use of magic becomes applied manipulation of energy. Energy can be tuned, directed, drawn away, or multiplied. It can be slowed so that it seems to be a solid, or converted to an insubstantial fluid of potential.

Others who lack your understanding find you obscure or mystical, but in fact you could not be more practical. In the grand scheme of things, only energy is eternal and true; all its shapes and flows are temporary, and will shift into unrecognizable patterns as time advances.

Your comprehension of these truths grants you exceptional and growing power over the world that others believe is mostly physical. Hazardous discharges flow around you like water. You can even extend a fraction of your protection to your allies. So powerful is your control over energy that when your body takes too much hurt, you can convert yourself to a field of substanceless particles.

IMMORTALITY?

When you complete your final quest, your understanding over the nature of energy expands. You suddenly grasp the final truth with which you have so long struggled: Only one energy field exists, and the entirety of the cosmos is made up of this undulating, many-layered expanse. The cosmos and you are one and the same. The same field that makes up everything else is part of you.

After putting your mortal affairs in order, you transform spontaneously into a being of pure energy, leapfrogging the state of divinity to become a fixture of the cosmos itself. After all, even the gods and the primordials are made of energy. You are an Immanence; you are everywhere.

IMMANENCE FEATURES

Variable Resistance (21st level): After the first time you take damage of a particular type during an encounter, you gain resist 20 to that damage type until the end of the encounter.

Spirit of Energy (24th level): Once per day, when you drop to 0 hit points or fewer, you regain hit points equal to half your maximum hit points and become a spirit of energy. Until you regain hit points from a healing power or take a short rest, you are insubstantial and have phasing.

Also, at the start of your next turn, each enemy adjacent to you takes 20 damage of one of the following types, chosen when you take this form: acid, cold, fire, lightning, necrotic, poison, psychic, radiant, or thunder.

Shared Resistance (30th level): While any ally is adjacent to you, he or she gains your resistances and immunities.

IMMANENCE POWER

Vary Resistance

Immanence Utility 26

With a passing thought, you tune the energy of your body to resist a new form of damage.

Encounter ♦ Arcane

Minor Action Personal

Requirement: You must have already gained a type of energy resistance during this encounter from your Variable Resistance feature.

Effect: Change your current Variable Resistance to one of the following types: acid, cold, fire, lightning, necrotic, poison, psychic, radiant, or thunder.

LORD OF FATE

Prerequisites: 21st level, any arcane class, unaligned alignment

You have mastered whole libraries of arcane lore. With all that knowledge, you have glimpsed a universal truth: A cosmic balance hides behind all things, weighing the energies of existence and perhaps judging them. Life, motion, and the intricacy of existence itself participate in a constant interaction of warring forces, but a war subtly harmonized by the balance.

Your understanding of this balance informs your actions. Seeing the need for moderation in all things, you seek to damp down fiery passions and heart-wrenching attachments. If you attack the forces of evil, or struggle against chaos, you do so simply to bring the adversary back into a state of balance with virtue and order. You accept that life must include both despair and joy, both beauty and horror.

You are becoming an agent of balance—a living exemplar of the cosmic fulcrum.

IMMORTALITY?

As the last mortal breath escapes your lungs, your hard-won knowledge that life and death are eternal twins fills your dissipating perception. In that instant, your soul flashes out into the multiverse, beyond the grasp of the gods or the natural order. The force you sensed as a mortal, the underlying cosmic balance behind all things, accepts you as part of itself. You are transfigured into a sentient incarnation of that cosmic balance. It permeates existence, and so do you. Your knowledge multiplies a thousandfold. In your hands rests the future balance of the cosmos.

LORD OF FATE FEATURES

Turnabout (21st level): When you roll initiative, designate any creature you can see as the target of your Turnabout feature. Until end of the encounter, any condition that target imposes on another creature through the use of an attack power is also imposed on the target.

Balanced Sum (24th level): Once per day, when an enemy's attack drops you to 0 hit points or fewer, you regain hit points equal to your healing surge value, and you gain temporary hit points equal to your attacker's current hit point value.

Fulcrum of Power (30th level): When you are damaged by an attack power that a creature can recharge, the attacking creature can't attempt to recharge that power until you make an attack roll against it.

LORD OF FATE POWER

Golden Mean

Lord of Fate Utility 26

You show your power over fate, and let the balance reign over enemies and allies alike.

Daily ♦ Arcane, Zone

Minor Action

Close burst 5

Effect: The burst creates a zone of balanced fate that lasts until the end of your next turn. Each creature within the zone doesn't make d20 rolls to resolve attack rolls, ability checks, skill checks, and saving throws. Instead, these rolls are resolved as if the creature rolled a 10 on the die.

Sustain Minor: You can sustain the zone until the end of your next turn. The zone's area shrinks by 1 each time the zone is sustained. When the zone is a burst 1, it can no longer be sustained.

MAGISTER

*Magic flows through you as it flows through all the worlds.
Magic that flows through you once is yours forever.*

Prerequisites: 21st level, any arcane class

Your reputation as a powerful spellcaster has only grown in the telling, perhaps sometimes even outpacing your actual abilities. Indeed, some credulous few have gone so far as to call you the “mouth of magic,” implying that you are the ultimate expert on all things arcane.

You don't go out of your way to dissuade such talk. After all, you are a powerful practitioner of the arcane arts. You are a protégé of powerful wizards, sorcerers, and warlocks (if not in the flesh, at least in the study of their lives, their rituals, and the spells they preferred to cast). Furthermore, spells and rituals have been your daily fare for longer than you can recall. You are mortal, yes, but the flux of magic that daily flows through your form lifts you closer and closer to something finer with each arcane utterance.

Any wizard, warlock, or other spellcaster can study hard and eventually master a wide variety of magical stratagems. It is not impossible to grow in power and ability. But a few who do so sense an underlying unity to magic, a thread that connects apparently disparate magical functions. Those few, like you, claim the title of Magister and the enhanced magical prowess that goes with it.

Regardless of what others say or what you believe, empirical evidence has proved it: You have become one of the most powerful spellcasters in history. You manipulate magic as easily as you breathe.

IMMORTALITY?

Your ultimate destiny is certain to be colorful, but is otherwise open-ended. It is likely to be whatever best suits the unique expression of your class. You might be a chaos sorcerer who decides to live deep within the Elemental Chaos, returning in some future age to help assuage the world's need. You might be a great bard whose magic eventually challenges the immortals, and perhaps wins you a place in the courts of the gods on your own terms. You might be a wizard whose studies have rewarded you with a natural fluency that none could have predicted early in your career, but whose popularity and notoriety live on for centuries afterward—aided by the fact that you remain accessible, if inactive, in a grand tower hidden in a Feywild mountain pass.

MAGISTER FEATURES

Magister's Knack (21st level): One ability score of your choice increases by 2.

Magister's Flow (21st level): Whenever you use an arcane encounter or daily attack power, you gain a +4 bonus to the defense or defenses that power attacks until the end of your next turn.

Return of the Magister (24th level): Once per day when you drop to 0 hit points or fewer or are about to take enough damage to kill you, you can spend a healing surge, teleport 15 squares as a free action, and roll saving throws against all effects on you that a save can end.

Magister's Master (30th level): Twice per day, you can perform any ritual you have mastered as a standard action.

PARABLE

The material world is an illusion. Look behind the world, but not for the truth—for the next layer of delusion.

Prerequisites: 21st level, wizard

The world is not real. It is a story whose teller is the cosmos itself, a cosmos unaware of its own ongoing process of coming more fully into being. Time is an illusion, merely a prop for the unfolding tale. Without time, matter, too, is mere imagination. Gods and mortals, primordials and angels, and every other creature that strives, lives, and dies upon the stage of supposed existence, is facade thrown up by the cosmos. The solid-seeming earth is anything but, and the distinctions between the heavenly realms and the infernalmost pits is a paper-thin fiction.

Or, at least, such is your creed, and you have good reason to believe it's true. The wise know that stories are narratives that give structure to knowledge, and you are wiser than most. This narrative principle runs far more deeply than most presume—you believe it is the core axiom of creation itself. However, knowing reality for the illusion it is, you have begun to alter your own story. In so doing, you have risen above the masses that still believe reality is more than a cloak over the nothingness that lies beneath everything. In taking a hand in your own tale, you have become a living parable, perhaps one capable of wrenching existence onto a track designed by you.

IMMORTALITY?

The act of completing your final quest also proved that you could change the course of the unfolding cosmic yarn according to your own desires. Your mastery over the illusion that serves as creation's tissue is nearly complete. Only a few final threads of figment elude you.

So you retreat from all the competing stories of the world, fading into the illusion, becoming a part of it. When next you take a step, you do not emerge as a discrete entity only feet away from your previous position. Instead, your body and mind leap into a thousand different stories in a thousand different times and places. You seek to become part of the underlying story, the first story, the parable that precedes all others. In so doing, you hope to promote yourself above all others. No longer will you be a character in the story, but the storyteller.

PARABLE FEATURES

As if Illusion (21st level): Whenever you move, you ignore difficult terrain.

Never Really There (24th level): You never take damage from a missed attack.

Life's Illusion (30th level): Once per day, when you die, you can return to life at maximum hit points 10 squares away from the space where you died. In fact, you only seemed to die—your enemy killed a perfect illusion of you, while you stood a short distance away.

PARABLE POWER

Figment Step

Parable Utility 26

The attack, the creature, and even your own physical form are not real. Change the story, and you change reality.

Encounter ♦ Arcane, Illusion

Immediate Interrupt Personal

Trigger: An enemy hits you with an attack

Effect: The triggering enemy's attack does not occur. You disappear from your space and reappear 5 squares away in a space of your choosing. The triggering enemy loses the action taken to make the attack, but retains the power used for the attack.

SAGE OF AGES

Knowledge is power. Once that fact is understood, the power of the gods themselves becomes something knowable.

Prerequisites: 21st level, any arcane class

Knowledge is power, freedom, life, and love. With the proper information, you can unravel the secrets of the universe and be the master of your own fate. You have always believed this. Your curiosity about all things is legendary. Even as a child, you asked "why?" more often than any other question. As you matured, you sought knowledge about harder-to-reach places, traveling first the world, then other planes of existence. Knowledge is your solace, your hope, and your support. Faith might be fine for others, but you see it as a shallow edifice. Only objective study and the knowledge gained thereby allows one to see things as they truly are.

The petty bickering of kings and nobles holds less and less interest for you, and as you learn more and more about the facade of flesh that mortals wear to hide their souls, even earthly delights begin to lose their flavor. All else pales before the pursuit of pure knowledge.

IMMORTALITY?

When you complete your final quest, you make your plans to withdraw from the world. You have accumulated so much knowledge that you have become a force of nature itself. As one of a select few who have earned the title Sage of Ages, you take up the lonely task of a keeper of secrets, history, and unfettered knowledge.

When the time is right, you retreat to a secret place only you know of, a place where you find knowledge within the natural bends and crevices in space and time. You begin to observe a river of events and store them away in your mind. Age, cares, and the needs of the flesh flow around you, not through you. You are a fountainhead of knowledge that other creatures, sometimes even gods, seek out because of your perfect enlightenment.

SAGE OF AGES FEATURES

Paragon of Learning (21st level): You gain a +6 bonus to Arcana checks, Dungeoneering checks, History checks, Nature checks, and Religion checks.

Keeper's Prescience (24th level): At the start of each of your turns, roll a d20. You can use the result of that roll in place of any one d20 roll you make before the start of your next turn.

Reverse Time (30th level): Once per day, when an attack would normally drop you to 0 hit points or fewer or kill you, you do not die. Instead, you regain maximum hit points and move your place in the initiative order to directly after the creature that made the attack.

SAGE OF AGES POWER

MAGIC ITEMS: TOME

A tome is a thick book packed with knowledge about casting a spell. The materials that make up the cover of a tome range from leather and thin wood to heavy pieces of metal. The pages of a book can be paper, leather, thin pieces of metal, or other flexible materials. You can't make melee attacks with a tome.

If you can wield a tome as an implement, you can add its enhancement bonus to the attack rolls

NEW RITUALS

The world is flush with sacraments, rites, ceremonies, and other procedures that wring incredible effects from an input of time, components, and learning. These disparate workings are known collectively as rituals. See Chapter 10 of the Player's Handbook for instructions on how to use a ritual in the D&D game.

The rituals in this section are listed on the table below.

ANTHEM OF UNITY

The anthem's invigorating notes fill the audience with pride and single-minded purpose.

Level: 8

Category: Binding

Time: 10 minutes

Duration: 1 day

Prerequisite: Bard

Component Cost: 135 gp,

plus a focus worth 680 gp

Market Price: 680 gp

Key Skill: Diplomacy

When you perform the Anthem of Unity for a crowd of ordinary people—peasants, commoners, artisans, and the like—you unite them behind a single cause. Only creatures whose level is at least 2 lower than yours are affected by this ritual.

The crowd must not be hostile to you and must be able to see and hear you for the entire performance. At the end of the ritual, you can request a single service from the crowd, to which the members of the audience respond as if you were a trusted friend. You can request anything that doesn't involve violence, put the listeners at inordinate risk or imperil their friends or family, or place them in financial ruin. For example, you might ask the listeners to help put out a fire raging in the city, hide you and your allies from searching guards, or provide you with shelter or food. A Diplomacy check made at the end of this ritual determines what sort of help you can request.

Diplomacy Check Result	Effect
19 or lower	The listeners perform an action that lasts up to 1 hour and that benefits them in at least some small way.
20–29	The listeners perform a task that lasts up to 1 hour and that poses no risk or reward to them.
30–39	The listeners perform a task that lasts up to 6 hours and that poses a mild risk but at least some benefit to them.
40 or higher	The listeners perform a task that lasts up to 1 day and that poses a mild risk without any benefit to them.

The number of individuals affected extends to anyone who witnesses the entire performance, so the larger the venue, the more people you can affect.

Focus: A musical instrument you play as part of performing the ritual.

ARCANE BARRIER

You create a tough, translucent wall that blocks a passage-way or covers a doorway.

Level: 12
Category: Warding
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: 4 hours
Component Cost: 1,000 gp
Market Price: 3,200 gp
Key Skill: Arcana

You create a magical barrier of force that is 2 squares long and 2 squares tall. It is large enough to block a standard doorway or seal off a hallway. The obstruction is invisible from more than 10 squares away, but if viewed from closer than that, it is discernible as a translucent, shimmering, paper-thin wall.

When you perform the ritual, you allow for certain other creatures or types of creature to pass through the barrier, ignoring its effects, in the same manner as for Arcane Lock (Player's Handbook, page 301). Your Arcana check, with a +5 bonus, sets the DC for the ward to be defeated by rituals such as Knock. The DC to break through the barrier with a Strength check is 5 higher than that.

If you spend 4 hours and four times the component cost to perform this ritual, the duration becomes permanent. A ritual caster who performs a ritual, such as Knock, to pass through a permanent Arcane Barrier can choose to bring the Arcane Barrier down temporarily (in which case it seals again after 5 minutes) or to destroy it.

BEAST GROWTH

The beast grows to incredible size and exhibits tremendous strength.

Level: 4
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: 8 hours
Component Cost: 70 gp
Market Price: 175 gp
Key Skill: Nature (no check)

A nonhostile Small or larger natural beast, such as a dog, horse, camel, or elephant, must remain within 5 squares of you while you perform this ritual. Upon the ritual's completion, the creature's size increases by one category. This change does not alter the beast's statistics, though its Strength is considered 8 higher for the purpose of determining how much the creature can carry, drag, or lift. In addition, the beast gains a +4 power bonus to Strength checks (but not to attack rolls or damage rolls).

The ritual's effect ends if the beast dies, at which point it reverts to its normal size.

CALL OF FRIENDSHIP

Your song calls to a person's heart, filling it with feelings of kinship, affection, and perhaps even love.

Level: 4
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: Special
Prerequisite: Bard
Component Cost: 50 gp, plus a focus worth 50 gp
Market Price: 215 gp
Key Skill: Diplomacy

You target one nonhostile natural humanoid creature that is at least 2 levels lower than you. The target must remain within 10 squares of you and hear the entire performance. Once you complete the ritual, make a Diplomacy check to determine the effect it has on the target. Once the ritual's duration expires, the target's attitude returns to normal. The ritual does not affect the target's memory in any way.

Diplomacy Check Result	Effect
19 or lower	The target acts as a friend for 1 hour, assisting you as he can, but he takes no actions that put him at any risk or that require an expense of more than 5 gp.
20–29	The target acts as a friend for 1 hour, assisting you as he can, but he takes no actions that put him at any risk or that require an expense of more than 25 gp.
30–39	The target acts as a friend for 6 hours, assisting you as he can, but he takes no actions that put him at any risk or that require an expense of more than 50 gp.
40 or higher	The target acts as a friend for 1 day, assisting you as he can, but he takes no actions that put him at any risk or that require an expense of more than 500 gp.

Focus: A musical instrument you play as part of performing the ritual.

DETECT TREASURE

You use a gold rod to indicate where nearby treasure is found. After a moment, the rod begins to vibrate, pulling you toward a large cache of loot.

Level: 9
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: 5 minutes
Component Cost: 325 gp, plus a focus worth 1,000 gp
Market Price: 800 gp
Key Skill: Arcana

You hold out a gold rod while you focus your mind on finding nearby treasure. The rod pulls in your hands, pointing toward the most valuable concentration of wealth within a number of squares determined by your Arcana check result. You can reduce the range if you choose.

Arcana Check Result	Maximum Range
9 or lower	10 squares
10-19	20 squares
20-29	50 squares
30-39	100 squares
40 or higher	200 squares

When you finish performing the ritual, you can command the rod to detect only valuables within certain categories: metals, gems, other (art objects, maps, ritual components, and so on), or any combination of the above.

Focus: A gold rod you use in the performance of the ritual.

FARSIGHT

You extend your senses to the horizon when you will it.

Level: 16	Component Cost: 3,600 gp, plus a focus worth 2,500 gp
Category: Scrying	Market Price: 9,000 gp
Time: 10 minutes	Key Skill: Arcana
Duration: Special

Farsight functions as the Wizard's Sight ritual (Player's Handbook, page 315), but you can place your scrying sensor in any square you can see. You can see and hear as if you were standing in that square, and you have darkvision through the sensor. Your Perception skill determines whether you hear quiet sounds or notice unobtrusive things while observing an area through the sensor. You cannot place the scrying sensor in a location you can see only by using a scrying sensor.

Your Arcana check result determines how long the sensor lasts.

Arcana Check Result	Duration
19 or lower	2 rounds
20-24	3 rounds
25-29	4 rounds
30-39	5 rounds
40 or higher	6 rounds

The ritual creates a scrying sensor—a shimmer in the air—that watchful creatures might notice. Creatures must succeed on a Perception check (DC 10 + your level) to notice the sensor. They can't disrupt or interact with the sensor in any way.

Sufficiently powerful warding magic, such as the Forbiddance ritual (Player's Handbook, page 305), can block Farsight. If the location is warded in such a manner, you learn that fact as soon as you begin the ritual, so you can interrupt the ritual and not expend any components.

Focus: A mirror or a crystal ball that conveys what you see and hear.

FOOL'S GOLD

You turn a pile of base metal or lesser coins into a mound of gold.

Level: 3	Component Cost: Varies
Category: Deception	Market Price: 125 gp
Time: 1 minute	Key Skill: Arcana
Duration: Special

You create an amount of illusory gold that vanishes after a certain amount of time. The gold looks, feels, and smells like real gold and weighs as much as real gold. You create an amount of false gold equal to the amount you spend as the ritual's component cost times a multiplier based on your Arcana check result. Your Arcana check result also determines how long the illusory gold exists. For example, if you expend 100 gp as the component cost and you achieve a result of 25 on your Arcana check, you create 1,000 gp worth of illusory gold that lasts for 4 hours.

Arcana Check Result	Duration/Multiplier
9 or lower	1 hour/×2 multiplier
10-19	2 hours/×5 multiplier
20-29	4 hours/×10 multiplier
30-39	8 hours/×20 multiplier
40 or higher	24 hours/×100 multiplier

Any creature can discern the true nature of the illusory gold by succeeding on a Perception check or Arcana check against a DC equal to your Arcana check result.

GUARDS AND WARDS

You fill your castle with dense areas of fog, arcane locks, and false portals to hinder and confuse intruders.

Level: 18	Component Cost: 5,000 gp, plus 5 healing surges
Category: Warding	Market Price: 17,000 gp
Time: 1 hour	Key Skill: Arcana
Duration: 24 hours (special)

You layer enchanted defenses over an area you own or inhabit no larger than 30 squares by 30 squares and 100 feet (20 squares) in height.

The area fills with dense fog that makes the area heavily obscured. You and any creature you invite into the area can see through the fog as if the fog was not there. You can grant a creature a temporary invitation of any set length or revoke an invitation if you are in the presence of the invited creature or in the area of the ritual's effect.

All doors, windows, and other sealable nonmagical portals are locked using Arcane Lock (Player's Handbook, page 301). You create a number of hallucinatory items as per the ritual of the same name (Player's Handbook, page 306) equal to one-fifth of your Arcana check result. The hallucinatory items created most often are false doors and false walls. Consult the Arcane Lock and Hallucinatory Item rituals for their effects, and use your Arcana check result to determine their properties.

The warding effect lasts for 24 hours, but you can extend this duration by spending a healing surge every 24 hours to sustain it. You do not need to be in the same area or even on the same plane to sustain the effect. If the ritual's effect is sustained without interruption for a year and a day, the effect becomes permanent.

HISTORY REVEALED

You touch the disgraced general, conjuring images in your mind of a lavish masquerade ball, a military coup, and a horrible massacre.

Level: 11

Category: Divination

Time: 10 minutes

Duration: 5 minutes

Component Cost: 600 gp

Market Price: 2,900 gp

Key Skill: Arcana

When you complete the ritual, you touch a willing or helpless creature and see the most defining moments of the creature's life. The images appear in order from the most important to the least. Your Arcana check determines the number of past scenes you see. The scenes you view are those most pivotal to the creature's history and are not chosen by any agency. Performing this ritual more than once on the same creature invariably displays the same scenes unless the creature has experienced defining moments since the last time you performed the ritual.

Arcana Check Result	Number of Scenes
9 or lower	1 scene
10-19	2 scenes
20-29	3 scenes
30-39	4 scenes
40 or higher	5 scenes

IMPRISONMENT

You inscribe runes upon your foe, and it falls into a space beyond the normal bounds of the cosmos from which it might never return.

Level: 28

Category: Warding

Time: 1 hour

Duration: Permanent

Component Cost: 170,000

gp, plus 5 healing surges

Market Price: 500,000 gp

Key Skill: Arcana (no check)

You imprison a creature within a demiplane created by this ritual. The creature to be imprisoned must be either helpless or willing, and it must be present for the entire performance of the ritual. When the ritual is complete, an invisible magical field envelops the creature, putting it into suspended animation, and the creature falls into a space beyond the normal bounds of the cosmos. Only divination rituals performed by creatures of your level or higher can determine the location of the imprisoned creature.

You must set one or more possible conditions that release the creature, should they come to pass. You can set an imprisoned creature free by performing a ritual of release that has no component cost and takes 1 hour. A freed creature has no memory of the events that occurred during its imprisonment, and it appears in the world on the ground closest to where it was imprisoned.

LOWER WATER

The water vanishes into the ground as if it fears your presence and power.

Level: 2
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: 1 hour
Component Cost: 25 gp
Market Price: 100 gp
Key Skill: Nature

You cause a body of water to reduce in depth. Your Nature check determines how many squares the water lowers. The space of water you can affect has sides equal to your level in squares. For example, if you are level 12, you affect a space that is 12 squares on a side. If you lower the water to ground level or lower, the affected area becomes dry. In large bodies of water, the water outside the area is unaffected by the void you create. To an observer, the sides of the area appear to be walls of water. At the end of the ritual's duration, water returns to fill the volume it previously occupied.

Nature Check Result	Depth
19 or lower	2 squares
20–29	4 squares
30–39	8 squares
40 or higher	16 squares

MAGIC MAP

You swing a crystal focus in circles above a map until it stops, hovering over a particular spot that indicates where your quarry is located. As you watch, the crystal focus moves across the map, tracing the route taken by your quarry.

Level: 9
Category: Divination
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: Special
Component Cost: 325 gp, plus a focus worth 100 gp
Market Price: 800 gp
Key Skill: Arcana

When you perform this ritual, choose a specific creature. You must have an object that is tied to the creature, such as a bit of hair, a favorite scarf, or a personal weapon. You hold the object in one hand and suspend the focus from the other hand, holding it above a map representing a region no larger than 50 by 50 miles. If the creature is in the area, the focus is drawn to the creature's exact location as depicted on the map. As you watch, the focus follows the creature's movement.

Your Arcana check determines the duration of the time during which you can pinpoint the creature's location. This ritual is only as accurate as the map that is used.

Arcana Check Result	Duration
19 or lower	1 round
20–29	10 rounds
30–39	10 minutes
40 or higher	1 hour

Focus: A crystal plumb bob worth at least 100 gp, and a body part or personal object of the creature.

Time: 1 hour
Duration: 5 minutes
Component Cost: 25 gp
Market Price: 250 gp
Key Skill: Arcana

Arcana Check Result	Images Displayed
9 or lower	1 image
10–19	2 images
20–29	3 images
30 or higher	5 images

Under winter rain or the ocean's depths, this flame burns just as well as in the dry heat of midsummer.

Level: 6
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: 8 hours
Component Cost: 75 gp
Market Price: 360 gp
Key Skill: Arcana (no check)

The lake, tainted by a now-dead demon that laired in its depths, becomes crystal clear and refreshing to drink.

Level: 1
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: Instantaneous
Component Cost: 10 gp

20-29	25% of true size / 12 hours

Level: 14
Category: Exploration
Time: 10 minutes
Duration: Special
Component Cost: 1,100 gp
Market Price: 4,200 gp
Key Skill: Arcana

For the duration of the ritual, you and up to eight allies can communicate telepathically. You do not need to share a common language to communicate telepathically. Your Arcana check result determines the duration of the ritual.

Why bother with real servants when magical ones are so much more obedient?

Level: 1

Time: 10 minutes
Duration: Until your next extended rest or until you dismiss the servant
Key Skill: Arcana (no check)
Component Cost: 20 gp, plus a focus worth at least 25 gp

You conjure a Medium unseen servant of invisible force. It obeys your commands, moves at your speed, can lift up to 100 pounds, and performs basic functions and repetitive tasks, such as cleaning, making camp, and moving, holding, or carrying objects.

An unseen servant never tires. It cannot move more than 20 squares from your space. It does not occupy any space and cannot attack or be attacked. Each unseen servant you currently control doubles the component cost to create the next.

Focus: A ceramic hand. The person who holds this focus is empowered to command any unseen servants summoned with it. If the focus is broken or not in anyone's possession for a minute or longer, all unseen servants bound to it disappear.

ARCANE BACKGROUNDS

The background section in Chapter 3 of Player's Handbook 2 fleshes out the basics of character generation. It provides story hooks for a character's background and adds game benefits that reflect who you were before you became an adventurer.

Here are five backgrounds you can use or adapt to your arcane character. After choosing your background elements, you can (with your DM's consent) select one of the following background benefits.

- ◆ Gain a +2 bonus to checks with a skill associated with your background.
- ◆ Add a skill associated with your background to your class's skills list before you choose your trained skills.
- ◆ Choose one language connected to your background. You can speak, read, and write that language fluently.
- ◆ If you are using a campaign setting that offers regional benefits (such as the FORGOTTEN REALMS setting), gain a regional benefit.

ARCANE AGENT

You are a member of a secret arcane society. The public believes that your secret society is composed of thieves and assassins, and it has been outlawed. Your society believes that your particular tradition of magic is unduly prosecuted in the area where you reside. Whether this belief is correct or not, you are an avid supporter of your society, and you look forward to the rare times when you receive secret communiques from other members of your society. Sometimes these messages take the form of magical sendings; others are inked on parchments that are magically treated to flash into ash upon being read. Most are of the "keep the faith" variety, though a few instruct you to undertake minor quests for the society. So far, none of these missions have taxed you or put you in a precarious moral situation.

Associated Skills: Stealth, Streetwise

ARCANE MERCENARY

You work for pay. You'll take coin if that's all your patron has to offer, but you prefer to be paid in magic. Magic items, magical lore, magical secrets—you value these more than gold.

More than any other form of payment, you want an artifact. Gaining an artifact is your goal. You might even have a specific artifact in mind.

You recognize that artifacts, as magical quasi-entities with temperaments and goals all their own, cannot be bought and sold by gold. That knowledge only stokes your burning desire to possess one.

Associated Skills: Diplomacy, History

ARCANE REFUGEE

A great conflagration of magic enveloped your home when you were a child. Your family fled, and your parents became bitter, angry people who denounced spells and those who worked them.

Your family never explained to you the nature of the magical disaster that destroyed your home (and perhaps even the city or region where you lived as a child). This event stirred a great curiosity in you because of a strange red scar you have on the back of your hand—a remnant of your flight from the disaster. Some nights, the scar glimmers with its own light.

You began secretly exploring arcane magic. Your study was enhanced when you found an old locked chest in your surviving parents' chamber. It was filled with dusty, old books describing arcane fields of study. Before long, you were working basic spells on your own—but then your parents found out. You were banished and commanded never to return.

You wander now, looking for ways to increase your arcane knowledge and trying to discover more about the magical disaster that overshadows your life.

Associated Skills: Arcana, History

ARCANE SENTINEL

A great secret has been entrusted to you, and you are that secret's sentinel. Your secret might be your guardianship of a tome containing dire and wondrous prophecies, the location of a magical shrine or planar gate, or your identity as the heir of some arcane tradition hunted to extinction except for the last few who cling to their allegiance to the order.

You are not completely alone. A few others share your burden. Sometimes you note the secret sign of your sentinel affiliation scribed in magical runes on the side of a building, written on a dungeon wall, or whispered in a dream. Until the next gathering of your fellow sentinels, reading these secret signposts is the safest way to maintain contact with your fellows without betraying your secret trust.

Associated Skill: Arcana

ARCANE TRACKER

You are on the trail of a wondrous thing. It might be a manifestation that appears only under a full moon or an eclipse, a spellwarped beast whose rampages lash into the world from another plane, a lich assassin who killed your master and stole relics meant for you, or a demon child who rides an albino serpent through the dreams of its hapless victims. You pledged yourself to this hunt, knowing full well that the nature of your quarry could lead you far across the world and perhaps even beyond it. You know that when you finally catch what you are chasing, a great trove of arcane knowledge will be yours for the taking.
